Boycott of UN Chief Threatened by Kremlin

Russians Stone Belgian Embassy

LONDON (CP)—The slaying of Patrice Lumumba shocked governments around the world today and sparked new blasts at United Nations performance in the Congo from both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The Soviet Union unofficially withdrew its recognition of Dag Hammarskjöld as United Nations secretary-general and demanded that all foreign troops get out of the Congo within one month.

The government statement, reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, said Russia would have nothing to do with Hammarskjöld in future. It charged that the slaying of the ousted Congolese premier was "an international crime incompatible with the United Nations' charter."

Critics generally ignored the fact that the Security Council had barred the UN Congo force from intervening between the Congo's warring factions and that Russia had persistently blocked any extension of UN authority in the Congo unless it meant Lumumba's return to power.

The official Katanga explanation of Lumumba's death was disbelieved almost everywhere and fear was expressed in the West that the killing would touch off full-scale civil war in the Congo.

Unless the UN contained the situation, said the London Daily Telegraph, "the danger will not be only a civil war, but a repetition of the Spanish civil war—where intervention by great powers will all too inevitably develop into a rehearsal for something worse."

NASSER BLAMES UN
President Nasser of the United Arab Republic—a staunch supporter of Lumumba—denounced his "savage assassination." A government statement accused the UN of "betraying its mission in the Congo" and of being soft on the imperialists.

Prime Minister Nehru of India said Lumumba's death was a "great shock."

"Murder has been committed," Nehru told reporters, "and murder probably by people who occupy high places."

Deplorable Says Green

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green today denounced as deplorable Russia's action in withdrawing recognition of Dag Hammarskjöld as secretary-general of the United Nations.

He told the Commons it could only add to the difficulties faced by the UN in the Congo.

Katanga Chief Turns UN Down

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters).—Premier Moïse Tshombe of Katanga today emphatically refused to co-operate in the United Nations investigation into the death of Patrice Lumumba.

Tshombe in a prepared statement condemned UN action in Katanga, saying it was responsible for "such a state of chaos it would take years for foreign powers to re-establish order."

The breakaway Katanga government Monday announced that Lumumba, the Congo's first premier, had been "massacred" by Katanga villagers after he "escaped" detention here.

Tshombe's statement was read to a press conference after UN officials here complained that officials of the secessionist Katanga regime had refused to help in the investigation.

Meanwhile, UN troops were placed on the alert for possible violence in the tense aftermath of Monday's announcement that the 35-year-old first premier of the Congo was removed from office had been "massacred" by Katanga villagers.

At the same time, there was anxiety that Lumumba supporters controlling Oriental and Kivu provinces might take reprisals for their leader's death against whites and anti-Lumumba Africans.

FLYING AIR COMMAND KEPT ALOFT BY U.S.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The United States Strategic Air Command announced today it now has an airborne command post in the air at all times.

The airborne command posts are intended as stand-by units to take over should the underground control centre here or its alternates be knocked out.

8 Men Feared Drowned in B.C. Coast Tragedy

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four aircraft and a flotilla of small vessels were losing a race against rapidly deteriorating weather today in efforts to locate a missing 40-foot camp tender with seven men aboard.

The RCAF Search and Rescue Squadron said gale-force winds were expected to hit the coast before noon, halting the search that was started with the discovery of the body of one of the eight men who were on the Green Valley when it left Texada Island, 40 miles north of here, Monday morning.

The men were going on a four-day holiday to Pender Harbor, on the mainland, about 45 miles north of here.

The RCAF said the flotilla of ships, 15 in all, "will wait out the gale in safety."

Among vessels taking part in the search is the Esquimalt-based naval auxiliary vessel Whitetrot.

A spokesman said, "We're now sure a bad accident has happened," adding that the general search area now is centred off McRae Cove.

A chain of unpredictable circumstances led to almost a 10-hour delay in the start of the search.

The Green Valley, a black-hulled tender with a green cabin, left a small logging camp operated by an affiliate of L & K Lumber about 9.30 a.m. Monday on a 15-mile trip to Pender Harbor. It carried eight men when it left in clear and good weather.

The camp to check on the Green Valley's departure.

A general marine bulletin was issued asking all vessels to join in the search. At least 13 government, public works, RCAF and police vessels and several private tugs have so far answered the call.

An air force helicopter will also be used if weather permits, but gale warnings have been issued for Georgia Strait today.

An air force spokesman said the gale winds were approaching faster than expected. Light marine vessels were expected to abandon the search by mid-day.

The Green Valley normally carries loggers to and from camps along the B.C. coast.

It was not known how many of the missing were loggers or what was the strength of the Green Valley's crew.

Search and rescue said identification of those aboard was being withheld until next of kin have been notified.

The air force said additional planes would join in the search once the general search area was narrowed to a more specific spot.

The royal couple saw Mount Everest as they flew from West Pakistan to the east section of the country, separated by 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

The Queen's Britannia airliner made a 50-mile detour off its normal course to give the monarch her first look at Everest.

The Britannia made several runs past the mountain, about 1,000 feet below its 29,000-foot summit.

Wheat Payment Set
OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Hamilton announced in the Commons today that an interim payment of 10 cents a bushel would be made on the 1959-60 Prairie wheat pool.

Atom Power
No Mystery
To Red China
LONDON (UPI)—Russia gave the first official hint today that Red China is well on the way toward mastering the secrets of nuclear energy.

A Radio Moscow broadcast beamed to North America said "Chinese scientists can now solve the most complex problems in modern science."

Moscow made this cryptic statement in conjunction with an announcement that Red China's first atomic reactor and cyclotron "are in operation."

Red Chinese scientists, the broadcast added, can now solve modern scientific problems, "including the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes."

Diplomatic sources said the Russian hint bears out recent information from behind the Iron Curtain that Peking is working hard on the atom bomb and may be nearing a solution.

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government warned today that the "rising power" of Communist China has become a potential threat to world peace and said the West must maintain adequate strength to discourage any aggression by either China or the Soviet bloc.

The warning was contained in the government's annual defence report to parliament. It was the first time that the government had placed emphasis in the report on China's military strength.

QUEEN'S CHILDREN SERIES BEGINS TODAY

No children in the world are subject to as much public scrutiny, as much comment, as much acclaim or criticism as those of Queen Elizabeth. Her tactful handling of her apparent Prince Charles, Princess Anne and baby Prince Andrew, a year old on Sunday, her discreet attempt to bring them up properly, her typical mother's love, are detailed in a series of five articles beginning today in the Times. Writer Langley Hall skillfully gives an insight into the lives of the Queen's Children. Read it on Page 5.

Rocket to Venus Just a Starter

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet scientists confidently forecast the beginning of an era of interplanetary flights today as a Russian rocket streaked through space on course toward Venus.

Russian scientist Alexander Markov said there is "no doubt" that after the current rocket flight others with automatic instruments would be sent to Venus.

"They will transmit back to earth information about the atmosphere of Venus, the composition of its surface, flora and fauna, if they exist on this mysterious planet," Markov said in an article in the Soviet newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda.

ROCKET ON TARGET

Russia reported Monday night that the 1,420-pound rocket, launched Sunday from an earth satellite, had covered almost 300,000 miles by Monday morning and was dead on course. They said the rocket will reach the area of Venus in the latter half of May.

JFK PRAISES SPACE SHOT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today sent congratulations to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the Russian launching of a space rocket toward Venus.

Kennedy said the United States will watch the rocket's progress "with interest" and wished Khrushchev "success in another chapter of man's exploration of the universe."

on course. They said the rocket will reach the area of Venus in the latter half of May.

All the equipment aboard the rocket is functioning as intended, Tass said. During the first playback, the temperature aboard was 68 degrees Fahrenheit.

HERRIDGE
... big as coffee cups

NO SNAIL IS BERTIE— HE'S FOR HELICULTURE

OTTAWA (CP)—Bertie Willie has a new worry. A few weeks ago it was algae. Now it's heliciculture, or snail farming.

Why doesn't the government permit snails to be imported for breeding purposes? Why spend thousands of dollars a year on foreign snails for gourmets, when Canadians could raise their own?

Not only that, but Bertie Willie—H. W. Herridge, CCF MP for Kootenay West—believes that British Columbia could become the heliciculture paradise for Canada.

The west coast boards of trade and tourist associations may not like his argument, but he says British Columbia has the "proper humidity"—dampness, some easterners would call it—for snail farming.

Herbert Wilfred Herridge—known to his Arrow Lakes constituents as well as his CCF colleagues in the Commons as Bertie Willie as a true term of endearment—raised the issue in the Commons Monday.

When he tossed the word "heliciculture" into the Hansard record, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton admitted he would have to run for a dictionary before he could answer Mr. Herridge's questions.

Over a cup of coffee in the parliamentary cafeteria after sending Mr. Hamilton in search of his dictionary, Mr. Herridge reported he had received letters from a constituent complaining the government wouldn't let him import snails and go into the business of snail farming.

"I guess they're afraid they'd eat everything from Field to Chilliwack," he said. "They had some trouble with them in California. They are almost as big as coffee cups, you know."

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Thousands upon thousands of our precious dollars will be voted into government service during the next few weeks—and they will go into almost every conceivable type of project from road and bridge building to cow conservation and pest control.

But first we have to get over the many objections to the way our money will be spent. This is the substance of the budget debate launched by CCF leader Robert Strachan Monday afternoon, and likely to continue for two weeks more.

In his two-and-a-half-hour speech, Mr. Strachan tore into the budget like a bull terrier with a paper ball, assisted in much gentler fashion by Ray Perrault, the leader of the Liberal Party.

Mr. Strachan confessed to a considerable pride in British Columbia and spoke of its mighty potential.

"There is nothing wrong with this province that a good CCF government couldn't cure," he said.

Mr. Perrault wasn't so sure.

"The hour of reckoning has come, and thousands of British Columbians are now wishing they had voted the Liberal way," he declared.

In a studied criticism of Premier Bennett's new 30 per cent increase of the gasoline tax, he said:

"When the premier shot his flaming arrow in Kelowna he hit the public right in the pocketbook... his budget now proves it."

Health Minister Eric Martin rose in defence of the flaming arrow. He insisted it was aimed, not at a pocket-book, but at a lot of worthless bonds which once constituted a debt on the province.

Mr. Perrault didn't seem impressed—nor did the CCF.

"It didn't even hit the target," joked Tony Gargrave, the member for Mackenzie.

All sides of the House are polite to the lady members—Mrs. Buda Brown, Mrs. Lois Haggen and Mrs. Camille Mather.

You wonder if they would be so polite if the female force in the House were increased to 15, as suggested by a Times reader.

The ladies might then be such a nuisance that the men would feel they had to get tough.

As it is, they are like cooing doves whenever a woman member speaks and everyone congratulates Mrs. Buda Brown on her elevation to minister without portfolio.

Mr. Perrault went further and suggested Mrs. Brown should be put in charge of an investigation devoted to the obliteration of unscrupulous practices.

He thought she should lead a crusade against "shady operators" who regard British Columbia as a "happy hunting ground" for their swindles.

Mr. Perrault also congratulated the government on its decision to open a trade and tourist bureau in San Francisco. He said the Liberals had advocated this for years.

"We want to see that rich American tourist trade brought to our province, and if you do this, we will back you to the hilt," he said.

INDIVIDUAL WILL SUFFER

ernment has underspent on welfare a total of more than $4,000,000 in eight years.

He said when supplementary estimates for the 1960-61 year are included, the government is planning to spend less on social welfare this year. The budget for this year is $30,034,583. The total for 1960-61, including $3,224,000 supplementary estimates, is $33,258,583.

"We might have supplementary estimates next year," said Premier Bennett. "You don't understand it."

Then Mr. Strachan attacked the new policies, which he said are cutting corners on welfare costs to make up for such items as staff increases planned this year.

"Up until now, whenever the government has been shamed into granting any meagre increases in social welfare, it has always had a scheme hovering in the background whereby some other benefit could be reduced," he said.

"Give with one hand and take away with the other."

FULL ACCOUNTING

Under the new pension regulations, applicants will have to pass a means test based on a full accounting of their monthly expenses and income. It is based on a "budget deficit principle." Applicants must show how their expenses exceed their income. The difference is their amount of need.

Their application forms must be sworn before a magistrate or commissioner of oaths.

They must tell exactly how much they spend on food, clothes, rent, fuel and how much they receive from insurance, pensions, earnings, unemployment insurance or rent from boarders.

While Mr. Sadler's letter claimed no present allowances would be affected, Mr. Strachan said: "People who apply from now on will not get the same rates."

IT'S MEANER

"It appears to be a meaner means test," he added.

"This new system will involve a heavier work load in local offices and thus will reduce the effect of increases in social worker staff."

What is worse, he said, is that eventually, the government plans to introduce this "forward look," according to the letter, into all fields of financial assistance.

"The main reason behind this is to force a larger share of costs onto the federal government, but as usual it is the individual who will suffer."

Staff increases according to the estimates will total 36 so-

Katanga Offers Recruits $550

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—A globe-trotting American writer, Dave Wynn of San Francisco, announced Saturday the Katanga provincial government in the Congo has asked him to recruit 1,000 American ex-servicemen to serve in its army.

Wynn said Katanga would pay officers up to $1,100 monthly and non-commissioned men up to $550—mainly for instructional purposes rather than fighting.

cial workers. This still leaves a caseload of 300 per worker, said Mr. Strachan.

He accused Welfare Minister Wesley Black of not telling the full story of the move to cut medical aid for "unemployed employables."

Mr. Black had stated, he said, that benefits would not be withdrawn from those receiving both social assistance and unemployment insurance who already held medical cards.

INVALID

Then Mr. Strachan quoted a letter from Saanich welfare administrator Frank Heaton telling a man who held such a card that it must be returned as it was invalid because of the new policy.

The government must show it intends to change its whole outlook on welfare, said Mr. Strachan.

"A new concept the focus of which will be on rehabilitation of the individual—certainly this will cost us more money to implement, but it will save us millions in the future," he said.

sound reasons why the Rambler Classic is your best automobile buy in Canada today

1 BEST OF BOTH* The Rambler Classic is the only car in the low price field (Chevrolet, Ford, Plymouth) to combine big car comfort and performance with small car economy and handling ease.

2 PROVEN ECONOMY* During a recent gas economy test organized by a Toronto newspaper, the Rambler Classic outperformed all other cars in its class.

3 DIE-CAST 6-CYLINDER ALUMINUM ENGINE* The Rambler Classic is the only car in Canada to have this type of engine. It is 80 pounds lighter, gives better economy, better weight distribution and easier handling.

4 CUSHIONED ACOUSTICAL FIBERGLAS CEILING* Only the Rambler has this ceiling which soaks up most road noises, gives more headroom, is easy to clean and will never sag.

5 CERAMIC ARMoured MUFFLER* Only Rambler has this muffler. Ceramic coating protects this muffler and tailpipe against corrosion. It is guaranteed for the lifetime of the car while in the hands of the original buyer.

6 DEEP-DIP RUST PROOFING* The entire body is dipped into a rust-inhibiting solution, which gives protection against rusting, even in Canadian winter driving conditions.

7 SINGLE-UNIT CONSTRUCTION* The body and chassis are welded together into a single unit of incredible strength. There are no bolts that can work loose, nothing to cause rattles.

8 NO CHANGE FOR THE SAKE OF CHANGE* The Rambler Classic is styled for best handling and the utmost in comfort. Changes will only be made when new developments or engineering improvements make them desirable.

9 RE-SALE VALUE* The high quality of its construction gives the Rambler Classic a longer life. The permanence of its styling makes it a highly desirable car, even when it is several years old.

10 12 MONTHS' WARRANTY* Every Rambler car is warranted for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever occurs first.

Party Roles Reversed As Pipeline Fight Looms

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—"An act to incorporate Aurora Pipeline Company," is the innocuous way in which the Commons order paper describes a bill now before Parliament. The mild wording stands in sharp contrast to the tone of the debate.

The measure has kicked up a lively ruckus, with shades of the 1956 pipeline debate to color its bumpy ride through the lower house. Only this time some of the roles are reversed.

In the Commons Monday, the CCF continued its all-out efforts to block the bill, maintaining that it would turn over control of a Canadian utility to a United States company. Sixty-eight per cent of the shares in Aurora would be owned by Continental Oil Company of Houston, Texas.

"This is another instance of a great natural resource being controlled in its transportation by a United States company," said CCF leader Argue.

The thin ranks of the CCF could not, however, stop progress on the incorporation of Aurora, which proposes to transport liquid petroleum products, processed from natural gas, from southwestern Alberta to the international boundary over a 41-mile pipeline.

Both the Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives—with one exception—lined up against a CCF amendment to "hoist" the bill for six months in a vote of 139 to 8.

Then the two larger parties got together to vote it through second reading—approval in principle. The vote was 140 to 7. The bill now goes to committee.

Lone Voice of Tory Rebel Heard

One Conservative member, Ed Nasserden (PC—Rosthern), joined the CCF in support of the unsuccessful amendment. It was the first time at this session of Parliament that a member has voted at variance with his party colleagues.

Mr. Nasserden said later, outside the House, he thought the bill should be set over for six months in view of the national oil policy announced recently by the government.

Eldon Woollams (PC—Bow River), sponsor of the private member's bill, dismissed as a "red herring" CCF charges that the bill would hand control of a Canadian utility to "Texas buccaneers."

45 Per Cent Canadian TV Upheld

The Board of Broadcast Governors is convinced that its 45-per-cent Canadian content rule for television will not lower program standards, board chairman Dr. Andrew Stewart told the broadcasting committee.

He said the BBC is "gratified" at steps in the TV industry to meet the 45-per-cent rule when it goes into effect April 1. The requirement increases to 55 per cent a year later.

"We have no reason to believe at the moment that it is impossible to meet 45 per cent with an adequate standard of programming," Dr. Stewart said.

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonaville-Twillingate) wondered what would happen if standards did drop. Would the governors set a production standard or allow imported TV programs to be used more freely. The board is "quite emphatic" in its intention to apply the rule strictly, Dr. Stewart said.

Two private members' resolutions debated Monday failed to reach a vote and fell by the wayside with little chance of coming up again at this session.

One was a proposal by Leon Crestohl (L—Montreal Cartier) calling for income tax exemption on tuition fees paid to universities and a number of other education institutions.

The other, sponsored by Lucien Carlin (L—Richelleu-Varchères, called for an engineering study of a proposed Richelleu waterway. It would link the St. Lawrence River with New York via the Richelleu River, Lake Champlain and the Hudson River.

90 TODAY

Messages of congratulation were pouring in today to Rev. Dan McIvor on the occasion of his 90th birthday. The Liberal, who represented Fort William for almost a quarter-century in the Commons, is still active, although retired from political life. Greetings were received from political leaders of all parties, including Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Opposition Leader Pearson and CCF House leader Hazen Argue. Parishioners of the First United Church at Fort William crammed the church hall after Sunday night's services to honor the long-time Lakehead figure.

BRITISH SPECULATE

First Space Gun To Follow Venus?

LONDON (UPI)—British space experts speculated yesterday that Russia's Venus rocket probe could follow the development of the first "space gun."

Space scientists theorized the technique used to fire the Venus rocket from a satellite in orbit might have some future military application.

They wondered, for example, whether the formula for firing a rocket away from the earth could be used to aim one toward the earth, once re-entry problems are solved.

The Daily Mail said bluntly the Russians' piggyback satellite "warns the West of a new potential military threat—the first space gun."

The Daily Mirror's scientific correspondent said the Russian satellite must have needed "the biggest rocket the world has ever seen."

The scientific writer of the Daily Express estimated that the rocket generated a thrust of at least 1,000,000 pounds.

Space experts said the Venus probe will not sidetrack the Russians from their chief aim of getting a human being into space before the United States.

Western scientists said the Kremlin had ordered its space team headed by Cambridge-trained physicist Peter Kapitzka to make sure that the first man who orbits the earth is a Russian.

PERRAULT RAPS GASOLINE TAX BOOST

'Steady, Not Rushing Growth Needed'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

British Columbia should attract long-term investors, not short-term speculators, Liberal Leader Ray Perrault, told the legislature Monday.

"We want steady growth rather than mushroom growth, and we don't want people coming here to make a killing then getting out," said Mr. Perrault speaking in the budget debate.

In his second speech to the legislature, the Liberal leader declared:

"Under this government B.C. has suffered from unbridled inflation, over the past nine years. Now the joyride is over. That is what this budget means. We are being forced down to realities."

This so-called debt-free province now puts a 30 per cent increase on the tax on our gasoline, and by means of the sales tax is raising money on everything but the cat and the kitchen sink."

The Liberal leader referred to Premier Bennett's budget, brought down last Friday, as a "stand-fast, do-nothing budget."

If the government was doing the job it claimed to be doing, he would be the first to go along with it, he said. Unfortunately, the Liberal Opposition could not endorse many of the steps it had taken.

"This government stumbled into office by chance in 1952 and our friends in the CCF missed their opportunity by only one seat. The government was given a very slim mandate and most of the people are opposed to its procedures."

The Liberals would be in power today if the people could express their feelings, said Mr. Perrault amid laughter and jeers from government benches.

He said Premier Bennett had maintained the 5 per cent sales tax, although, when he was a Conservative, he had spoken at length about the iniquities of the sales tax.

"We are in favour of the Canadian dollar being devalued below par with the American dollar," Mr. Perrault said.

"You are on our side now," interrupted Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Perrault said there is no shortage of investment funds in Canada and he believed much investment could be attracted to British Columbia by sane, imaginative programing.

"At the same time, we don't want a speculative, get-rich-quick atmosphere. We don't want a fan-tan club such as we have had."

He said the people of British Columbia are now experiencing disillusionment after the "heady wine" of the government's repeated promises of a golden era in the "Scintillating Sixties."

Vancouver Taxes Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—The average Vancouver homeowner will have a tax increase of $6.25 to pay this year. The estimates were presented to council Monday. The figure represents an increase of 1.678 in the mill rate.

"This new gas tax has landed squarely on the backs of the people. Automobiles are no longer luxuries; they are necessities required by ordinary men and women in their daily occupations."

Mr. Perrault urged the government to:

Do all possible to make British Columbia industry more efficient.

Consider lifting the tax on machinery to enable workers to produce more goods.

Establish full-time labor-relations boards.

End the "scandal" of British Columbia's labor-management conciliation system.

BUSINESS COMMISSION

Set up a business commission for increased research into the use of primary products from the forests.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Esquimalt police court Monday:

Carol French, HMCS Naden, $25 for driving without insurance.

Donald H. Baxter, HMC Dockyard, $25 for driving without insurance, $15 for violation of driver's licence restriction and $10 for disobeying a traffic sign.

Donald Isenor, 1239 Pandora, $50 and licence suspension, and Robert M. Gordon, 1212 Haultain, $40 for careless driving.

Dale Floyd Ashton, 1785 Emerson, $15 for speeding over 30.

Daniel Thomas MacDonald, 2847 Nanaimo, $10 for driving through a red light.

Spend more money on tourist promotion.

Set up an anti-fraud squad against unscrupulous practices.

Establish Canada's first young peoples' alcoholism program to warn them of the dangers of alcohol.

Establish a department of youth to help promote amateur athletics and a province-wide trend towards physical fitness.

Butter Price Ruling Delayed to May 1

OTTAWA (CP)—There will be no change in the government's dairy price support program before May 1, Agriculture Minister Hamilton said Monday in a statement.

The statement followed a report Saturday in the Toronto Globe and Mail that the price of butter to consumers would be cut by 10 cents a pound starting April 1.

CREAM ON YOUR DIET:

IT'S ESSENTIAL TO BEAUTY!

Are you watching your weight? Then your complexion needs extra care! Low-fat diets, plus harsh weather and overheated rooms, rob skin of natural moisture. Result? Flaky patches, little lines, crow's feet. But with POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM you can maintain a reservoir of precious oils and moisture within the skin. This famous cream contains Allantoin—a substance that floats off lifeless surface cells, speeds deep penetration of Pond's moisturized lanolin. Dried-out, thirsty tissues in the skin's sub-surface are revitalized... and almost overnight, your complexion looks softer, smoother, younger. Use POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM regularly. In jar or tube, wherever cosmetics are sold. Advt.

HUNTERS BAG COUGAR, KITS NEAR SOOKE

A 100-pound mother cougar and her three kittens were shot by two hunters near Leechtown Sunday.

Wilfred Clark, 647 Kelly Road, Colwood, and James Paton, 3130 Jacklin Road, Langford, were giving their dogs "a run" when the three hounds picked up the scent.

The dogs freed the four animals.

"We took turns knocking them out of the trees," said Mr. Clark.

First a kitten was shot, then the mother and a second kitten about 200 or 300 yards away, he said. The third kitten was bagged nearby.

There's a reason for our Multivent paper...

This Canadian invention registered as No. RD 025301/59 is now being manufactured under license in many countries throughout the world.

There's a reason... a good, sensible reason why you get a richer taste of tobacco from a Rembrandt than from any other cigarette. The reason is simply Multivent paper... a thin, thin paper lightened even more by countless tiny air vents. Fresh air is allowed to cool the smoke naturally, with every puff you draw. You get less paper and a cooler smoke... which automatically means more real tobacco flavour. It stands to reason: If you enjoy good tobacco... you'll get more tobacco flavour in a Rembrandt.

Multivent's the reason for Rembrandt's cleaner flavour!

Judges or Politicians?

WITHIN A FEW DAYS THE Canadian government must appoint 13 new judges to our high courts. Never since the days of Confederation has any government faced so many judicial vacancies at one time—among them three in British Columbia. Here is a great opportunity—and a great temptation.

Will the government choose new judges because they are qualified by legal knowledge, experience and character? Or will it choose them for service to the Conservative party? We shall soon see.

In the past, for the most part, governments of both parties have appointed excellent judges.

Certainly most of them have been supporters of the party in power and in a few cases the appointments have been scandalous examples of political patronage and nothing else. But even men who had little or nothing to recommend them except party service have usually laid aside all partisan feelings when they ascended the bench.

Some of our best judges were once ardent politicians. The Canadian judiciary on the whole is as able and impartial as any in the world.

Those standards should be maintained in the forthcoming appointments. Concerning which The Montreal Gazette, long an organ of the Conservative party, recommends to the government the statement of an eminent Canadian lawyer who said:

"Too often and for too long in this country one of the qualifications of a judge, aside from ability, is political competence. I suggest that a move towards elevating the judiciary would be a declaration by the attorney-general and minister of justice of the country that from now on, within reasonable limitations, political qualifications shall take second place to ability, capacity, judgment and the possession of the faculties that result in a judiciary so necessary to the maintenance of security and our freedom."

Those words were uttered from the opposition benches on June 9, 1948, by Mr. John Diefenbaker, M.P. Today he has the chance to make them good.

Victoria has a special interest in his decisions. Among the other judges who will retire under the new age limit is Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, of the British Columbia Supreme Court, a Victorian respected throughout the nation.

It will be difficult to replace a jurist so eminent, unbiased and so well loved in the legal profession. But if another Victorian is to be chosen, as the government doubtless intends, there are excellent non-political lawyers in this city who would grace the courts. The public will remember Mr. Diefenbaker's inspiring words in opposition and await his appointments with interest.

Advice and Example

THE FORMER ALLIED SUPREME Commander in Europe, General Alfred Gruenther, has come out with some timely advice to Canada on the nuclear arms question. For Canada to enter the nuclear arms club and try to produce these astronomically expensive weapons, he says, would drain our resources and limit our capacity to finance other things which would do us more good.

That is a very pertinent comment, and one of which the federal government is well aware. But there is another powerful argument with still wider ramifications.

As a middle power, Canada can, by renouncing nuclear weapons, add strength to the argument that such armaments should not be permitted in the hands of any but the major powers.

The problem of disarmament, and the danger of global nuclear war, are serious enough now, with only four nations in the nuclear bomb club. But if lesser countries can acquire the bomb—Yugoslavia, Egypt, Cuba, for instance, under their respective dictators Tito, Nasser and Castro—the danger of a nuclear outbreak would be many times magnified. Under such conditions, any hot-headed action might plunge the world into radioactive chaos.

The possibility of small-power development of nuclear bombs has moved a step nearer with the recent disclosure that a comparatively inexpensive centrifuge process has been devised to produce U-235, the basic nuclear bomb material. Because of this discovery, nuclear bombs can be made at a cost of "millions rather than billions."

A binding political or moral agreement will thus be necessary to prevent the spread of the bomb, now that the financial bar has been lowered. In this regard, a non-nuclear Canada could speak with greater effect.

Right Man For the Job

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT has acted wisely in appointing Mr. J. V. Clynne as a commissioner to study present laws covering property expropriations.

The inquiry should show how seriously the public purse is hurt by speculators. When a person buys land only for a quick and substantial profit in the knowledge that it will be essential as a right of way or needed for some public development, then the public ought to be protected.

That point is established by a recent transaction in which the government was forced to pay about four times the price for a particular property that its former purchaser paid six or seven years ago. The value of the parcel rose only because it was needed for a highway project.

Mr. Clynne, a hard-headed businessman, leading industrialist and experienced former justice of the provincial Supreme Court, seems admirably equipped to carry on these studies. The recommendations arising from his inquiry will be awaited with interest.

Back for Another Try

MR. KHRUSHCHEV'S DECISION to attend the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York next month has been greeted with mixed feelings in the West.

If the Soviet leader's presence means that he intends to try through international discussion to resolve some of the critical problems facing the world today, then the visit is to be welcomed. If, however, he plans to duplicate his display of last October, when he berated the West, displayed execrable manners in the Assembly, and left in a flurry of threats that Russia was prepared to go its own way, then another visit will do more harm than good.

'Run, Don't Walk'

THE FINANCIAL POST SAYS that federal cabinet members and chiefs of staff expect at least three hours' warning in the event of war.

The implication is that this time margin will permit them to seek survival in the "war citadels" or bomb shelters now planned.

Another Eastern Canadian newspaper suggests that someone ought to tell the cabinet and chiefs of staff about intercontinental missiles, which could be delivered 15 to 25 minutes after they left the launching pads.

The suggestion is timely. The trip from Parliament to the bomb shelters is not going to be a leisurely stroll. And while consideration is being given to the survival of government functionaries, perhaps the civil defence budget could include items for physical fitness courses for each member, along with a pair of "sneakers." With that should go a formal sign in corridors, saying "Run, don't walk."

"... All right then, chaps ... we'll cash in on Seattle's exhibition next year and postpone our one hundredth anniversary a year ... until '63..."

Mrs. Noggins' Plan for Full Employment

and we must spend and spend to put the unemployed to work. By saving and spending every cent we'll soon be out of the recession.

"But you can't trust the public enough while they're saving," so the government is ready to make the final sacrifice and spend their money for them, free of any charge except taxes. When it comes to spending the public is an amiable creature. Leave it to the professionals like Dief and Fleming as knows their trade.

"EVEN the government is too timid. The Liberals guarantee to spend still more and tax still less, which is only reasonable. The simple arithmetic of that ideal must appeal to any sensible person. But why stop there?"

"All the Liberals want is a mean little tax cut but you can't 'ave too much of a good thing. If we're to get out of this slump we've got to abolish taxes altogether. There's a pump primer as would really prime. Tis a wonder smart men like Walter Gordon 'aven't thought of that but I suppose they can't think of everything. Give 'em time and they'll see the full logic of their great discovery. "Like Gordon says, deficits can't do any 'arm so long as they're planned. Poor old Fleming can guarantee us a deficit every year but it's no good because it's not planned and secretly 'e don't believe in it anyway. That man should be takin' pride in an unbroken record of deficits that 'ave brought the nation to its present state of prosperity and vindicated the Gordon theory but 'e's actually ashamed just because 'is fingers went wrong by a few piddlin' billions.

"NACHERALLY the people who've bin blamin' 'im for 'is deficits blame 'im 'arder than ever because they're not big enough. Besides, 'e didn't plan 'em but only stumbled into 'em with mere good luck which 'e don't deserve. Wot we need is men of faith who can plan deficits, big and bold, fer years in advance and make sure we escape the tragedy of a balanced budget. But I doubt there's any danger.

"So Nowland and Hees rush to Fleming's rescue and denounce the opposition for proposin' to cut taxes. We promised the same thing, they say, and look where it landed us. The government can be trusted because it's already made all the mistakes but don't trust the Liberals because they'd only imitate our foolish policy.

"THAT'S a brand new principle of politics—vote for the party as is most experienced in mismanagin' the country, vote for them as can prove they've bin wrong from the start. Well, it's an impressive argument. In the race to see who can bust the country quickest we've got some powerful contenders. It renews yer faith in democracy.

"The real trouble is Jim Coyne. That miser could save the country right away if 'e would only loosen up the money but 'e would rather wreck the economy just for the fun of it to make sure the government fires 'im at the end of 'is contract. I must say Coyne is a queer sense of humor.

"The young perifiers is right. We ought to get Coyne out of the way and turn the money system over to them and the politicians as aren't imprisoned in old-fashioned ideas like inflation but will drive interest rates down till everybody can borrow all they want and usher in the more abundant life on the cheap.

"And cut the hours of work, too, and there'll be plenty of jobs for all. Better still, stop workin' altogether and there'll be no unemployment. The Injuns proved that long ago. They never worked and none of 'em was unemployed.

"TIS the rage to work as distorts the whole economy. Tis the low-priced goods pouring in from foreign countries as is makin' us poor. You can't 'ave prosperity if goods are cheap and everybody can buy as much as they please. Keep 'em dear, keep 'em out, 'old down production, exterminate the old evil of work and we'll be as prosperous as the Injuns.

"Well, my uncle Erbert solved the whole problem years before that fella Keynes and is deficits was 'ard of. All you need for prosperity, said Erbert, is more money in circulation and 'e went and printed it in a basement in Liverpool. There was a man with a 'igh sense of public duty. But before 'e could stop the business depression they put 'im in jail. Counterfeiters is never appreciated unless they're in the government.

Whose Job Is What?

WHEN the twins had graduated from their high chairs, but were still small, we faced a difficult problem in table behavior.

One of them is left-handed, the other right. Occasionally, when they came to dinner, the left-hander would sit on the right of his sister. That brought the operative arms of the two into conflict, like backstroke swimmers trying to use the same lane. Elbows would bump. Food would spill. Voices would rise and the meal became a battle.

Perhaps improperly, we took the line of least resistance and insisted that the lefty sit on the left, the right-handed twin on the right. That way, they had unlimited swinging room. The technique eliminated wrestling at the table, but it didn't do much to establish elegant eating habits. Our continual pleas for them to keep their elbows at their sides never paid off.

Now it seems to me that had we sent the youngsters to a decent boarding school, they might have learned dexterity and form at the table—at a price.

That price can be assessed by the corrective methods used by a headmaster I once knew. Seeing some boy lacking in etiquette at the table, he would bawl from his place: "That's right, Smith minor, put both paws in the trough." The technique left something to be desired.

Even if correction is administered more correctly, I'm not quite sure that school, boarding or otherwise, is the proper place for children to learn table manners. If they have to go to school for that purpose, the home isn't doing one of its jobs.

Certainly I think that school should be a factor in the cultivation of good manners—but only as a supplement to the home. And that is only one of the fields in which the schools should be supplementary. The Chant report makes the point admirably.

The commission, with startling candor, put forth the idea that there were certain things the school should do, some it should not do, and many others for which it should assume very limited responsibility.

The commission also pointed out the fact that some things can be taught better by institutions other than schools.

Neither my friend George Grant nor my friend Gary Taylor will quarrel with a little illustration. Oak Bay High in recent years has produced the best swimming teams in the province for inter-school meets. I think it something more than a coincidence that the winners who have carried Oak Bay High's aquatic standard so proudly have almost invariably been members of the YMCA swim club.

The Y swim club is in a particularly fortunate position to turn out swimmers—a point which Oak Bay parents seem inclined to appreciate.

It's probably safe to say that some music teachers operating privately in the city have similar specialized abilities to develop their pupils beyond the standard of excellence achieved by the very good teachers in public school.

Possibly, too, some parents are able to exert an influence on children's character denied public school teachers in the limited time the latter have the children under their control.

You can debate that, of course. Dr. Keenleyside was reported the other day to have suggested "the worst handicaps our children have to overcome are their parents, their teachers and their adult world."

There is a certain harsh logic in the doctor's remarks. Eliminate the parents and you eliminate the children's problems by eliminating children.

Maybe it's just a survival wish, but I'd rather take a chance on parents, teachers and the adult world, fallible as they are. Perhaps, given time, we might each learn to do the job we should be doing for the kids.

THE QUEEN'S CHILDREN

Royal Family Symbol Of Happiness to All

(This is the first in a series of five articles by Gordon Langley Hall, well-known author and feature writer about the children of the British Royal Family.)

The Queen and her family are not only a symbol of happy family life to the British Commonwealth but to the whole of the free world. Pictures of the baby Prince Andrew being bounced on his grandmother's knee on the occasion of her sixtieth birthday delighted mothers and grandmothers everywhere.

For the Queen and Prince Philip living as they do, perpetually in the public spotlight, raising a young family is not easy. That they have succeeded in giving Prince Charles and Princess Anne as natural a childhood as possible is to their credit.

Surely no other mother in the world has to contend with so much well-meant advice concerning the upbringing of her youngsters than the Queen.

Free Bed Offer

If her 10-year-old Anne has a cold, she is immediately deluged with home-made remedies suggestive of curing it, when it was disclosed that in boarding school the now 12-year-old Prince Charles would have to sleep on a hard bed, she received many offers of new beds as gifts. In fact, one enterprising business firm asked the entire school to accept free beds equipped with luxurious box springs. The Queen politely but firmly declined.

The fervent wish of the Queen and Prince Philip is to give their children a happy, normal childhood.

Living for most of the year as they do in museum-like Buckingham Palace, it is not always easy to make the impressionable Charles and Anne feel that they are exactly like other children, for what other family lives in a "house" with over 600 rooms?

At all times the children are protected from the glare of too much publicity. In the case of Prince Charles and the precedent created in sending him away to school, the press and the general public have behaved admirably in respecting the Queen's request that he should have privacy.

'Oh, I See'

From their baby days Charles and Anne have been encouraged to mingle and make friends with other children.

Their childhood has been spent in direct contrast to that of Queen Victoria's eldest son, who was deliberately kept from contact with other children, making him so unhappy that once he ran away.

SPECIAL TIMES FEATURE

One of the most delightful stories of the then baby Prince Charles is that of the small boy riding through the lofty corridors of Buckingham Palace on his tricycle, to be met by a strange gentleman.

"Where are you going?" asked the little boy.

"To see the Queen," was the answer.

"Who is she?" inquired Charles.

"Your mother," replied the gentleman.

For a moment or two Charles seemed to be deep in thought; then suddenly he blurted: "Oh, I see."

Part of the busy day has always been reserved by the Queen and Prince Philip to be with their children. When Charles is away the Queen looks for his weekly letter home with just as much excitement as any other mother with a small boy at a boarding school.

She has been exceptionally fortunate in having her own mother and sister close at hand to keep a friendly eye on the children when she has been away on one of her official tours. She has been able to go feeling that the children have gone from one home to another.

With very real delight Charles and Anne welcomed the two newest arrivals into the closely-knit Royal Family circle. Princess Anne, for so long the baby of the family, was given a special role in preparation for the birth of her new brother, Prince Andrew, who was born February 19, 1960. She even did some of the knitting. At no time was she left out in all the excitement of choosing the layette, the cot hangings, and even the baby's name.

Unlike most big brothers, afraid of what the other boys at school will say, Charles has often been seen in the royal car with baby-brother Andrew seated happily upon his knee.

As for their new uncle, Tony, both children were delighted. For one thing there would be an extra man for their football team in which their mother, the Queen, is goalkeeper.

Black Bottom

To the Royal children, Windsor Castle is much more their idea of what a real castle is like than the towerless Buckingham Palace. Once Anne persuaded Charles to play cowboys and Indians on top of the stone battlements where a false step would have meant a hundred-foot drop to the ground below.

Fortunately her mother found out and they were forbidden to go out on to the high roof again. Not to be outdone, the mischievous princess discovered an open window with a wonderful sliding chute leading into the dungeons. All would have been well if Anne's black bottom hadn't betrayed them when it was time to go in for tea.

STRACHAN ON GAGLARDI:

'Biggest Protest Since Sommers'

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan Monday accused Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi of making misstatements in the legislature.

Mr. Strachan accused first Mr. Gagliardi, then the government, of a contemptuous attitude to the legislature and to the courts of British Columbia.

He was forced by Speaker Hugh Shantz to withdraw on both, but several times he quoted from the court judgments against Mr. Gagliardi, finding him guilty of contempt for paying a highway contract in violation of a court order. Mr. Strachan put Mr. Gagliardi's own words against the judges.

'TOLD TRUTH'

"Notwithstanding I still told the truth," cried out the highway minister. "I don't care what Glazer said," he added, when Mr. Strachan quoted Burton's Glazer's affidavit to the appeal court that a letter from Mr. Gagliardi was used as security for a $50,000 loan to a contractor.

Commenting on the speech of defence made last Thursday by Mr. Gagliardi, the opposition leader said: "The minister made the greatest protestation of innocence heard in this House since former lands and forests minister Sommers did the same thing just before he resigned."

Mr. Sommers was subsequently convicted of conspiracy and bribery.

Mr. Strachan accused Mr. Gagliardi of disputing the word of British Columbia judges—in the supreme and appeal courts, both of which agreed on his contempt.

Mr. Gagliardi said Thursday of Clyde Thornton, the man whose company got the money in violation of a court order: "I'll challenge any person in the world to show me that this company had no assets."

Mr. Strachan quoted the supreme court judge who found, according to affidavits from Thornton, that his company was not solvent.

"There is the man the minister is challenging," said Mr. Strachan, "a learned judge of our courts."

Despite a chorus of calls from cabinet ministers Mr. Strachan did not withdraw after saying: "It's rather odd the minister had the courage to stand up in the House and say the things he did. He made misstatements."

After Premier Bennett led the protests, Mr. Strachan said: "I didn't say he was a liar. I said he made misstatements. Take your own connotation."

FORCED TO WITHDRAW

When Mr. Strachan accused Attorney-General Robert Bonner of trying to intimidate the opposition to prevent further attacks on the highways minister, he was forced again to withdraw.

He said it must have been Mr. Bonner's "usual nonsense."

Challenged on this, he said it was "your unusual nonsense."

"My goodness the attorney-general is very jumpy today," he commented after Mr. Bonner's third or fourth protest.

Subs, Destroyers or Both In Canada's Naval Future?

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP).—The defence department now is grappling with the problem of a new shipbuilding program for the navy.

Informants indicated Monday that its recommendations will be ready fairly soon for presentation to the government.

The recommendations will mainly concern whether to build conventional submarines, new destroyers or both.

It is no secret that the navy wants submarines for two purposes: To help train the destroyer fleet in anti-submarine warfare and for a possible operational role in event of war.

FOUR ON LOAN

Vice-Admiral Harry DeWolf, recently retired chief of naval staff, has said that the navy could use 12 submarines right now to exercise the fleet. The navy has been able to borrow three from the Royal Navy and one from the United States Navy but they are old craft.

There is one serious drawback, however, to the navy's acquisition of submarines: This would further fragment Canada's armed forces and it would necessitate an entire new support program.

Conventional submarines would be no more expensive than destroyers about $27,000,000 each and there seems little doubt Canadian shipbuilders would like to take a stab at building them. The government has ruled out nuclear submarines as too expensive.

NEED ANSWER SOON

One of the major problems is that a decision on a new shipbuilding program must be reached soon because the current one will be completed in 1963. Unless a new program is laid down in time there will be large layoffs in Canadian yards and the navy will suffer in its plans for a coherent and steady evolution. The navy is still using some Second World War vessels.

Six new destroyers are under construction now. One, the Saskatchewan, was launched Jan. 31 at Victoria. The Mackenzie, Yukon, Qu'Appelle and Annapolis are scheduled to be launched this year and the Niagara in the first half of 1962. All six will be completed by the end of 1963.

The destroyer is not ruled out as a good anti-submarine weapon even though its speed may not match that of a modern sub in some cases.

Authorities explain that the chief difficulty in anti-submarine warfare is not killing the sub but finding it in the first place.

The destroyer is an excellent seagoing base for underwater detection gear.

Besides that, the destroyer can extend its detection range by use of helicopters which can lower detection gear—sonar—into the water to listen and then move on to another ocean spot.

The last two ships of the six now being built will have helicopter platforms and there is an amount of $3,200,000 included in the 1961-62 defence budget for acquisition of naval helicopters. Eventually, all six will be fitted with helicopter platforms. It is also conceivable that older destroyers will be fitted with them as well.

BUSINESS VIEWS

U.S. Economic Recovery Seen Soon

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Latest monthly change indices of the National Association of Purchasing Agents' business surveys in the U.S. point to an economic recovery within a few months.

According to Dr. John H. Hoagland of the Graduate School of Business Administration of Michigan State University the current recession should prove to be "relatively mild and short."

The monthly change indices, developed from business surveys of purchasing executives, have proven extremely reliable over the past 25 years in predicting changes in the business cycle, Dr. Hoagland claims.

As an example, the analysis of the indices last March stated: "A business downturn may be developing," and the June analysis pointed out that "the U.S. seems to be on the brink of a business recession."

Another survey, this time from Business Week magazine, shows that the managers of the $17 billion U.S. mutual fund industry are growing more bullish about the stock market and the economy.

The mutual fund men are confident that the recession will be relatively brief and mild and they are stepping up their purchases of common stocks.

However, says the magazine, the buying will be selective with no across-the-board rush into depressed cyclical stocks such as steel, auto and rails, as there was when the market turned up in 1958.

Business Week says it's worth the time of anyone active in the stock market to pay attention to mutual fund investment managers because, as a group, they have been surprisingly accurate in their market predictions.

Most popular group of stocks mentioned by fund managers were the office equipment issues, followed by oil stocks. Autos led the "sell" list followed by rubbers, electrical equipments and foods.

Opinion was evenly divided on electronics with selective buying the rule for those who still favor the industry. Utilities, widely bought by funds last year, are tabbed by some this year as having too high price-earnings ratios.

Dividend payments by Canadian companies for February continue high at $46,012,545, according to J. R. Timmins and Co.

This compares with $40,467,904 one year ago and $36,740,909 in 1959.

Improvement largely reflects Brazilian Traction's first dividend since July, 1958. Dividends from all utilities at $20,205,717 are up from last year's $16,196,076.

Completion of two more Peace River area gas wells of considerable importance has been announced by Western Natural Gas Co., Inc.

First is a Middle Devonian producer, which indicates a considerable extension of the Clarke Lake field near Fort Nelson. The well, Fort Nelson b-70-1 (6) flowed 10,300,000 cubic feet daily on a half-inch choke with 1,725 pounds tubing pressure.

It is owned 20 per cent each by Western and El Paso and 30 per cent each by Hudson's Bay and Union of California.

The other gasser, also from the Middle Devonian, is Kathy b-30-F (2) located five miles northwest from the nearest producer, Pacific Kothco b-44-C and eight miles north of the original Western Kothco No. 3 field discovery of 1958.

This well, with a flow of 9,089,000 cubic feet daily on half-inch choke at 1,525 pounds tubing pressure is owned one-quarter each by Western, El Paso, General American and B.C. Oil Lands.

Victoria's "Life Underwriter of the Year" will be named at the February meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association of Victoria Friday noon in the Ingham Hotel.

Federal Lab At Vic College Saanich Aim

Saanich council will ask the federal government to build its proposed forest biology laboratory on Gordon Head campus of Victoria College.

Present plans call for the construction of the building on a seven-acre site at Burnside and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Reeve George Chatterton told a council meeting Monday that the laboratory would be a "tremendous asset" to the college campus.

But the college, he said, would have to offer to the government two or three acres of land for the building.

Coun. Joseph Casey questioned whether Saanich should request the government to change its building site. He noted that money has already been spent on buying land and in building a greenhouse at the Burnside site.

Coun. Gregory Cook countered that when the government bought the Burnside site there were no plans to raise the status of the college to a university.

"Things have changed," he said. "The proper place for a building of this type is on a university campus."

MARKET SUMMARIES

Rallies Registered At Toronto, New York

Rallies were the order today on both the Toronto and New York stock markets. Trading was light at Toronto and fairly active on Wall Street.

Ford of Canada, R. L. Grain and Great Lakes Power led industrials higher at Toronto, all up 1/2. Atlas Steel, Bell Telephone and Bank of Commerce all gained 1/4.

Aircraft-missiles were in the fore at New York. Boeing and Lockheed were up about two apiece and United Aircraft and Thokol more than a point.

AT TORONTO Kerr Addison put pressure on the gold index with a drop of 1/4 at 11 1/2.

Bakeries Will Merge Plants

Manufacturing operations of McGavin Bakeries Ltd. and McGavin Bakeries Ltd. from Victoria to Fort William are to be consolidated "as a necessary move in the face of rising production."

In Victoria the operation will be consolidated in the Canadian Bakeries plant at 2625 Prior with H. D. Mitchell as manager. Present sales and distribution organizations will be maintained and they will continue to market the McGavin and Toastmaster brands.

Although five plants will be closed down in the move, one plant, McGavin's in Nanaimo, will be reopened and all the baking for the northern island area will be done there under the management of Sandy Fuoco.

Mr. Mitchell noted that in Victoria there would be a minimum dislocation of employees. "Although we are consolidating production facilities in one plant, our combined needs will require additional shifts," he said.

The change will take effect March 1 providing it is ratified by Canadian Bakeries shareholders at a special meeting in Vancouver this month. No exchange of stock would be involved since a new company would be set up to run the operation under joint ownership of Canadian Bakeries and McGavin Bakeries.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices were firmer today in soft trading on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Irregular flax prices showed the influence of lower linseed oil prices abroad and declining tendencies in United States vegetable oils.

There were some flax purchases and these were attributed to export accounts. A small flax sale to Japan was reported.

The rye trade was mostly light as it followed U.S. trends. Export loadings of Canadian wheat for the past few days: United Kingdom 1,000,000 bushels, Japan 1,500,000 bushels, Venezuela 465,000, Belgium 210,000, West Germany 195,000, France 215,000, The Philippines 70,000, and a small lot to Hong Kong.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were all up 1/4 from Monday.

OSHAHA, Ont. (CP) — The United States may reciprocate in kind if Canada increases tariffs on goods imported from the U.S. George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers of America (UAW), said Sunday. He told a union education conference increased tariffs might benefit Canadian auto workers but might not be good for all of Canada. It must be ascertained whether Canadians can afford an all-Canadian car before they are built and whether they would be cheap enough to compete with overseas imports.

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures were firm to strong most of the time today with new crop months again leading the advance, but grains seas imports.

Nation-Wide Quest for Olympic Talent Starts Early

Following Victoria's swimming championships, which ended last weekend, is the announcement that a new nation-wide competition is being planned to uncover prospects for Canada's next Olympic team.

The competition is a telegraphic meet aimed at finding Canada's best swimmers and developing them for the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo. The big splash from coast to coast will be made March 11.

Some 2,000 youngsters—all under 16—are expected to take part in the age-group meet.

Ken Murray, Quebec president of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association who made the announcement in Montreal this week, said "part of the next Olympic team will certainly be made up of these kids."

"A swimmer can be Olympic material at 12," he added, Mary Stewart of Vancouver was 14 last year when she represented Canada in the Olympic Games at Rome.

"If we begin looking now, we may find a few more Mary Stewarts for 1964," said Murray.

Applications for entry must be made by this Friday to association representatives in cities where the meets will be held—Victoria, Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, Winnipeg, London, Ont., Toronto, Montreal and Halifax.

There are no fees. The only essentials are a completed entry and a swim suit.

Age groups for both boys and girls are: under 10, 11-12, 13-14 and 15-16. Depending on age, swimmers will race 25 to 100 yards in any of the four Olympic strokes—freestyle, butterfly, backstroke or breaststroke.

Times of each entrant will be flashed to Montreal on a teletype network for tabulation. A mechanical brain will pick out the top 10 swimmers nationally in each stroke and age group and also the top 10 by province.

Promising youngsters will be encouraged to enter provincial and national meets and may be chosen for the British Empire Games in Perth, Australia, in 1962 or the Pan-American Games.

The meet gives participants a chance to see where they stand, nationally, without subjecting them to travelling expenses. It's an idea that could easily spread to other amateur sports such as track and field.

Backstroke whiz Bob Wheaton represented Victoria on the Olympic team last year and there seems little doubt that B.C. will again fare well.

"Organized swimming in B.C. has been of a high standard for the last 10 years," says Victoria Amateur Swimming Club president Jim McCague. "Nearly half of every Canadian team was made up of B.C. swimmers."

McCague and YMCA coaches Bob Johnston, Al Aylward and Archie McKinnon all hail the idea as a "wonderful plan to really start the ball rolling towards production of top-flight swimmers."

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—Team sports depend on the illusion that every contest is a toy combat in which the participants are enemies for the duration of the game. The athlete is expected to assimilate hate for the opposition and to persevere despite fatigue, personal anguish and often pain.

The businessmen of sports labor to inspire their employees with commercial patriotism. The collaboration of groups united as leagues is a selfish one founded in the expression of free enterprise. But Ned Irish, the impresario of the Knickerbockers, has demolished the basic idea of competition by offering a beggar's cup to the other owners in the National Basketball Association.

He is a mendicant who demands that his rivals assist him in rehabilitating a team which is one of the worst ever to represent a franchise in modern basketball. It is a boring team, starless and indifferent, that is ridiculed by its partisans, who are embarrassed because they squander their loyalty on it. On the road, they discourage the buffs of the other teams and pull in less people than any other outfit in the N.B.A.

Never before within the reach of my memory has the supervisor of a major sports firm ever turned panhandler with such whimpering indignity. Irish doesn't even try to preserve the dignity of the street beggar who offers pencils in a travesty of trade. He is strictly a moocher who solicits help from people he should regard with hostility. He wants the rest of the league to do his work.

In a shameless demand for assistance, Irish said he would fold up the Knicks next year if the league didn't arrange to get him some capable players. I can't remember the overseer of a sports organization publicly requesting his competitors to assume the burden of his failure. He asks them to be his partners, which violates all of the principles which govern the league.

It is about time he cut out and turned the job over to a competent man with some pride. I think his whining utterance has disqualified him as a guy capable of renovating this disgraced team.

The player who quits would be fined by Irish. Such an attitude couldn't be tolerated in a coach. But he has announced that the organization that he put together can't handle the proposition that has defeated them.

He has failed and the Knicks are a monument to his flaws.

The buck stays with him. There is no way he can pass it. He is responsible for the mess which he beseeches the league to clean up, as if they were janitors instead of rivals.

The Knicks are still a lucrative proposition because they average 11,000 spectators a game in Madison Square Garden. They come out to see the other teams. The draw is basketball itself, not the Knicks. Adverse criticism offends Irish, but his denunciation of his team of sordid clowns was crueler than any ever printed on a sports page or shouted by a fan.

Instead of threatening to lay off the Knicks, I wonder why it hasn't occurred to Irish to cut the price of tickets. If you accept Irish's estimation, the Knicks are not worth the five cents he asks for the top ticket.

In some cities with thrilling teams, the best seats sell for $3. The majority of the Knick buffs are disgusted. It is doubtful if the team will achieve respectability next year because they must have at least six players to contend for the championship.

Other clubs get players, but the Knicks can't. It is Irish's bitter complaint that he can't negotiate deals, but Clyde Lovellette and Sy Green moved to other towns in trades. There are no players in the A.A.U. leagues, grieves Irish, but Detroit picked up Don Ohl and George Lee and St. Louis got Fred Lecour out of these federations.

In the draft, Irish ignored Sam Jones and chose Darrall Imhoff over Satch Sanders and Lenny Wilkens. Such as Gene Shue and Walter Dukes, belonged to the Knicks, but they were ransomed by other franchises for inferior players. Always Irish has an excuse which he states with cranky hauteur if a reporter challenges his dilapidated judgment.

The team must be torn apart and the swivel chairs tipped over. It is obvious that Irish or Vince Boryla, his general manager, have popped up. They don't deserve another shot at it and Irish has forfeited any right to continue because he admits the team he created is so awful it isn't good enough to play in the league.

I can't understand how Jack Bergen, the president of Madison Square Garden, can tolerate such stupid public relations. He could improve conditions immediately by kicking Irish upstairs and bringing in Frank McGuire as his replacement. McGuire, now the coach at North Carolina, is a New York guy and made his reputation at St. John's in Brooklyn.

I can't imagine McGuire begging for alms. That alone should recommend him for the job that Irish has demeaned.

Montreal Club Not Interested

MOSCOW (AP)—A top Russian sports official Monday said the Soviet Union has not invited the Montreal Canadiens to play here this spring.

Yuri Bazhanov, secretary of the Soviet Hockey Federation, said the invitation was extended last fall.

Only amateur teams from Canada have played in Russia. Bazhanov said all Soviet teams are amateur and that an all-star team would be formed to play Montreal.

Frank Selke Jr., publicity director of the Canadiens, indicated that the club is not interested in playing the Russians.

$4,300 SMILE

Winning habit is still with Arnold Palmer (right), and that's reason enough for big smile. Golfdom's leading money-winner last season picked up $4,300 Monday when he defeated Doug Sanders (centre) in 18-hole playoff for top purse at Phoenix Open. ## Bobo Takes Busy Road In Mapping Comeback

Ring Magazine, the beak-busting bible, rates Carl (Bobo) Olson as the eighth-ranked light-heavyweight in the world.

The U.S. National Boxing Association gives the Portland-based boxer the No. 9 spot.

A former champion of the world as a middleweight, Bobo hasn't said if he's pleased or displeased about the rankings. But Olson and his handlers are quite emphatic about their intention of climbing up to the top of the ladder again.

EYES ON TARGET

The plan, in part, consists of a series of bouts which they hope will lead to a title bout with Harold Johnson, new holder of the NBA's version of the title.

They follow the formula Thursday at Memorial Arena when Olson goes against Floyd Buchanan of Los Angeles. The next move is a Feb. 27 date in Spokane with Alvin Green, a light-heavy from Texas.

After that, there are dates in Duluth, New York and perhaps, Europe.

Regardless of the stop, Olson "fights 'em one at a time." The Hawaiian-born brawler also regards each bout as an important as the next one. That's part of the Olson comeback formula because, he says, nothing will help more than a string of successes.

ARRIVES TODAY

Buchanan, who was due to arrive in Victoria at noon today, is the next opponent and, as such, Olson's prime concern.

In preparation for Thursday's 10-round main event, Olson topped off a workout at Work Point barracks Monday with sparring sessions against Don McNeill, a member of the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry boxing team, and Portland middleweight Al Alexander.

He was due to take part in another sparring session today and will round out his training Wednesday with just a light workout in a downtown gym.

YOUTHFUL BOXLA STARS RELEASED BY VICTORIA

Two youthful standouts with Victoria's Intercity Lacrosse League team have been given their releases and will line up with Vancouver next season.

Forward Stew Smith and defenceman Tom English, both of whom were expected to figure strongly in Victoria's plans for coming season, requested the transfers because both plan to remain on the mainland for the summer.

Victoria officials have said they will not stand in the way of the transfers.

Smith is studying for a master's degree at University of B.C. and English is now married with his wife in advanced nursing at a Vancouver hospital.

In his rookie year Smith scored 28 goals and had 13 assists for 41 points and, last year, climbed to fourth place in club scoring with 34 goals and 18 assists.

English had 10 points last season and is rated potentially as one of the league's top defencemen.

Independents Fire Up For Run Down Stretch

Navy has forged to the head of the pack in the Commercial Hockey League, but the crew that appears to be building up the biggest head of steam is the Independent Athletic Association.

The fired-up Independents upset Pattersons 3-2 at Memorial Arena Monday night to move to within four points of the second-place Builders.

It was IAA's third win in their last four outings.

With only four games left on the schedule, Independents appear to be out of the running for first place. They trail Navy by six points. But there's no doubt they intend to make a spirited bid for second.

ALBERNI CLIPPED

Navy took over undisputed possession of first place by downing Port Alberni 6-2 before a gathering of about 1,500 fans.

There was no scoring in the night's first game until the three-minute mark of the second period when Bud Bradley put IAA in front.

Gus McCarthy evened the score on a power play at 5:30 while Independents were a man short and then Bob Fowler put Pats ahead at 15:10.

In the third period IAA took over and bombarded goalie George Hall with 13 shots. At 18:33, Doug Bambrugh went in alone with the winning tally after teammate Bud Brice had tied the score.

TWO FOR UHREN

Navy's Cliff Uhren boosted his season's goal total to 26 and points to 35 with a pair of tallies in the second game.

He now leads the league with four more points than Pattersons' Orville Coulter.

Navy opened the scoring in the first period but Ports tied it up at 10:21 with a goal by Ron Faganella. Ron Cook made it 2-1 for Tars a minute before time.

Uhren scored his two goals in the second period. Cook got his second and Laurie Guedo Alberni's second.

John Morris made it 6-2 for Navy with the only third-period goal.

In order to make up for postponed games, a double-header is scheduled Saturday night at Memorial Arena.

Navy takes on IAA at 7 and Pattersons meet Port Alberni at 8:30.

PALMER WINS PLAYOFF

He Can't Shake Winning Habit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, 1960's king of golf is winning at an even faster pace this year.

The long-hitting ace from Ligonier, Pa., defeated Doug Sanders by three strokes in a playoff Monday to capture the $30,000 Phoenix Open championship, his second in six tournaments. It marked the fourth time this season he has finished among the top five money winners. Palmer also won the recent San Diego Open.

Palmer outdrew Sanders by 30 to 50 yards most of the day. But his game was far from just a case of brute strength. When his gambling drives put him in trouble, he had the shots for great recoveries.

Palmer took $4,300 in prize money; Sanders $3,000. They split 50 per cent of the extra day's gate receipts, giving each an estimated additional $1,000.

Palmer's official tournament money for the year now is $12,425, good for second place on the bankroll list. Gary Player of South Africa, winner of the rich San Francisco Open, picked up $825 in Phoenix and still leads the pack with $13,727.

Island Crew Stands With Unbeaten Pack

TRAIL (CP)—Kitimat's Joy Mitchell will lead two other undefeated rinks into the second day of play in the B.C. ladies' curling championships being held here.

The Mitchell rink established itself as favorites by romping to a 3-0 record on the opening day.

The other unbeaten four-somes are Nanaimo's Margaret Fuller, Vancouver Island champions, and Colleen Smallenberg of Williams Lake, each with 2-0 marks.

The Smallenberg rink had a rougher time, beating Catherine Wright of Vancouver, 13-8 and edging Bolton 8-7.

Lan Hansen of Kimberley has a 2-1 mark while six rinks are 1-1. Kwasnatcha, Jones, Cooke, Wright, Eda Dagg of Penticton and Bolton have 1-2 records. Agnes McMorris of Kamloops is 0-2.

Gritty Wicketkeeper Cracks World Record

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—The injury-crippled Australian cricket team was left needing 201 runs for victory with nine wickets standing at the close of play today on the fourth day of the final six-day test match against the West Indies.

The West Indies set Australia 258 runs for victory and by the close the home team had made 57 for the loss of one wicket.

But the Australians will be handicapped Wednesday by a thigh injury to batsman Neil Harvey and a chipped wrist bone suffered by wicketkeeper Wally Grout. Five other Australians also are injured to lesser degrees.

The test will decide the series between the two countries. Each has won one previous match, one was tied and one ended in a draw.

Hard-Luck Lunde

DETROIT (AP)—Forward Len Lunde will be missing from Detroit Red Wings for at least a month because of a broken ankle suffered in Sunday's National Hockey League game against Toronto Maple Leafs.

TEE TOPICS

By ERNIE FEDORUK

A person's weekly earnings should be his own business, so promise you won't tell.

A little bit of arithmetic was required and now it's safe to say that Canada's two top golf professionals are doing right well on the Gold Trail.

In fact, one might be so bold as to suggest that they even can afford to meet Premier Bennett's new gasoline tax.

After six weeks and six tournaments on the new schedule, Vancouver's Stan Leonard and Al Balding of Toronto are averaging slightly better than $700 a week.

Leonard has been in the money in six straight tournaments while his cigar-chewing buddy from the East has stepped up to the playoff window four out of the six times. Leonard has already won $4,344.28 this year while Balding's cheques have totalled $4,292.67.

Balding picked up most of his change as a result of two fairly decent pay-days. He earned $1,900 a few weeks ago when he finished as the runner-up in the San Diego Open, losing out in a playoff to moneybags Arnold Palmer. Balding also picked up $1,016.67 this past weekend when he tied for sixth place in the Phoenix Open.

Stan the Man has been more of a consistent type. His fattest cheques included one for $1,200 at Palm Springs and $1,500 at San Francisco.

Leonard, I would hazard to guess, is just about ready to pick up a big one. In his last three tournaments, numbering 13 hole rounds, Stan is 17 under par. He has strayed over-par only three times in those 13 rounds!

A total of 25 rounds have been played since the boys stepped on the Gold Trail at Los Angeles. Stan has played par or better 18 times.

Anyways, it's nice to know somebody might be able to help Mr. Bennett build new roads!

Conditions couldn't have been much worse, so the two-over-par 71s recorded by Bill Wakeham and Ron MacLeod in Sunday's monthly medal round at Victoria Golf Club must be considered most commendable.

Wakeham, the Gorge Vale youngster who could be headed for a most successful summer, thus took a two-stroke lead in the three-round series that will be completed next month. He scored a 72 in last month's round and his 36-hole total of 143 gives him the edge over MacLeod.

The blond, Jasper Park pro, in turn, has a two-stroke edge over Norm Boden. Dr. George Bigelow, who carded a 77 Sunday, shares fourth with Art Donaldson. Each has 148.

Boden and Oak Bay's Roy Chappell each carded 74 Sunday while Donaldson had a 76.

Low net honors went to Uplands' Ed McKenzie, 77-9-68, with Ted Langlois of Gorge Vale second, 78-9-69. And it might be a good time to repeat that the handicaps for the final round—as well as for all future series—will be reduced to seven from nine. Victoria and District Golf Committee officials also emphasize that past entries will NOT be allowed in the future.

SPORTS CHIPS: Uplands' Sunday Morning Moaning and Marching Society is in danger of losing Pete Fediw. After his third-place finish in the tenpin bowling championships Sunday, Peter feels the larger ball may have something... Wakeham and a partner still to be named will challenge Gorge Vale clubmates Al MacLeod and Dick Freeman for the junior honors next Sunday at Oak Bay. The open button battle sends George Andrews and Laurie Kerr against Claude Heggie and Joe Briggs, the challengers from Uplands.

Whites Threatened By Congolese

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Whites were threatened by Congolese soldiers in the provincial capital of Stanleyville Monday night when news arrived of the slaying of Patrice Lumumba, it was reported here today.

But Gen. Victor Lundula, supporter of the pro-Lumumba regime in Oriental province, calmed the soldiers before they could carry out the threatened reprisals, United Nations officials reported.

Another Lumumba supporter, self-styled Oriental President Jean Foster Manzikala, has appealed for calm from his followers in a speech prepared for delivery by radio. It is not known whether it has been broadcast.

Manzikala said in the speech, a copy of which has been handed to the UN Stanleyville command, that pro-Lumumba leaders are prepared to carry on the cause of their dead leader.

URGENT CALL ON LUMUMBA DEATH

Yugoslavs Ask UN Probe

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Yugoslavia called on the Security Council Monday night to order an "urgent and energetic" investigation to fix the blame for the killing of Patrice Lumumba.

The Yugoslav letter from Foreign Minister Koca Popovic was the first formal proposal put to the council following the announcement by the Katanga province government that the former premier of the Congo and two political associates had been slain by residents of an unnamed Katanga village.

Popovic blamed the killing on Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga, Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, the head of the Congolese army, and Congo President Joseph Kasavubu, whom he called a "clique" in the direct service of foreign interventionists, primarily Belgium.

The Yugoslav letter added that UN organs active in the Congo "share a full measure of this responsibility."

Echoing demands of the Russians and Lumumba's supporters among African and Asian nations, Popovic also demanded the disarming of Tshombe's provincial army and the Congolese troops controlled by Mobutu and Kasavubu, and the withdrawal of all Belgian military personnel from the Congo.

No mention was made of pro-Lumumba troops based in Stanleyville and controlled by Antoine Gizenga, pro-Communist vice-premier in Lumumba's government.

'Forget Twisted Terminology, Give Us the Facts'—Strachan

By FRANK RUTTER

Premier Bennett was accused Monday of twisting the English language to satisfy political vanity in a misleading budget.

"This whole budget speech and its terminology displays an almost neurotic fear of calling things by the names that people understand," Opposition Leader Robert Strachan told the legislature in a 2½-hour speech.

"The election's over—up go taxes," he said.

His "rebuttal" in the budget debate singled out:

- The increase in the gasoline tax at a time when economists say taxes should be cut;

- Subsidies to the Toll Authority which is supposed to be self-liquidating;

- Use of education funds for paying school debt;

- Possibility of a subsidy for the PGE Railway;

- Gigantic surpluses over the past three years, when only tiny ones were forecast, because estimates actually weren't spent;

- Covering up the $600,000,000 contingent debt.

"GIVE US FACTS"

"I challenge the premier to withdraw the documents he placed before us on Friday and I ask the premier to give us the facts in a straightforward manner, no matter how unpleasant they may be," said Mr. Strachan.

"The premier would have had to introduce a real deficit budget if he intended spending the monies he says he is going to spend," he added.

His summary of the 67-page document read by the premier:

"The first 20 pages are cursing the federal government; the second 20 are praising the provincial government. The third 20 pages—not much good either."

'IF PROGRAM'

Mr. Strachan said it was no use saying how unemployment could be cured through a "federal if program" of projects that Ottawa could launch to provide jobs.

"If these projects are necessary at this time of unemployment, we should be doing them."

The public accounts of B.C. show the government underspent its budget by $12,900,000 in 1957-58; $23,100,000 in 58-59, and $19,200,000 in 59-60.

"In three years that could have put a lot of people to work and done a lot of jobs," he said.

Similarly, in 1958 the premier's budget speech forecast a surplus of $2,400,000 but it turned into $21,764,000; in 1959 the forecast was $201,600 but it turned into $26,909,000. In 1960 he forecast $700,000. On Friday he indicated it would be $11,909,000.

ESTIMATES PADDED

"What it will actually be we will have to wait for next year to reveal."

How was it done? Mr. Strachan said padding of estimates and extensive under-spending each year were responsible.

Mr. Strachan berated the premier for his insistence that the province is "debt-free."

He noted the budget this year did not even refer to "contingent liabilities." It called the outstanding bonds of government agencies and municipalities "provincial guarantees."

Yet $2,750,000 is budgeted this year as a subsidy for the Toll Authority.

Yet last year, he said, $6,500,000 of education grants went toward paying off debt.

$5 MILLION SUBSIDY

Now, despite the premier's promise in August, 1959, "Never again will the railroad take tax dollars out of the treasury," he has introduced a bill allowing the treasury to subsidize it to the tune of $5,000,000—and this isn't even shown in the budget.

Mr. Strachan also attacked the government's gas tax boost. He said it will be worth not $8,000,000 as the premier says, but $8,900,000.

In order to prove road-users are paying only 67.8 per cent of the cost of running B.C.'s roads, the premier has lumped in the entire cost of budgeting the highways department, all costs of the commercial transport department, construction of mining roads, forest development roads and the toll subsidy.

FAILED

"The government has failed to make a case for an increase in gasoline and fuel oil tax," he said. "At a time when top economists say taxes should be cut, this so-called debt-free province slaps a 30 per cent tax boost on one of our most necessary commodities."

"Tourists are going to love that."

"Here we are asking the federal government to do some deficit financing to lower taxes, to give us more money, and we put up the taxes ourselves."

'PECULIAR DEVICE'

He called Mr. Bennett's budget "silly subterfuge" but was forced to withdraw by Speaker Hugh Shantz.

He re-christened it "peculiar device."

"Public accounts," he said, "show under-expenditures in crucial places, failure to recognize debt."

He said the budget is "an artfully contrived assembly of figures and phrases that effectively conceal the true intent of the government and the real state of affairs of the province."

"I ask you to withdraw," cried the premier.

"Are you imputing improper motives?" asked the Speaker. "This is standard Social Credit procedure," interjected Randolph Harding (CCF-Kaslo-Slocan).

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

By Stuart Keate

After two months of patient book-browsing and waiting, I have finally acquired a copy of "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," by William L. Shirer—and I'm annoyed.

The bill for the book was $12.

Whatever has happened to the price of books? Novellas thinner than beef sandwiches are selling for about $4. Inferior novels like "Two Weeks in a Strange Town"—cost $6.50. Pre-publication price on "The Wonders of Life On Earth" was $10.40.

If memory serves, the first Shirer book ("Berlin Diary," published in the early war years) cost about $4.

I am aware that the cost of printing and bookbinding has gone up. But surely not 200 per cent.

"The Third Reich" sells in the United States for $10, or 20 per cent less than we pay in Canada.

Because of the high price of books here, a number of my friends are now importing their favorites from England. Not that I recommend this altogether; they tend to be a little hard on the eyes, and the production values (except in fine editions) are not comparable.

I asked a local book-dealer what the effect of these high prices would have on the reading habits of our nation.

"It's driving us into paper-backs," he acknowledged. "We may become a country of delayed-readers. In other words, if you can wait a year or so, you can pick up the best-sellers for 75 cents or $1."

A good example of this is James Michener's "Hawaii," which is still near the top of the lists in hard covers, but selling like mad as a paper-back at 90 cents.

Mr. Michener, incidentally, says he doesn't mind.

Having got this off my chest, let me say that "The Third Reich" is one of the most fascinating books I have ever read and at one cent a page ($12 for 1,200 pages) may even be a real bargain.

Shirer, a crack radio reporter in Berlin when Hitler came to power, spent five years assembling his mighty tome, and in the process waded through literally tons of captured documents. The result is a careful, painstaking, documented analysis of one of the most sordid eras in history.

This is also a disturbing book. For it shows how we—and by that, I mean the British and our French allies—sold the Czechs down the river, and thus emboldened Hitler to plunge the world into the greatest massacre known to man.

It is quite clear, from the captured documents, that the Fuehrer could have been stopped; at the Rhineland, at Austria, and in Czechoslovakia. His generals advised him that the French alone "could have made mincemeat" of existing Nazi armies. Hitler conceded that he had only five divisions with which to defend the West front. But his bluff worked.

It is also disquieting, for a journalist, to read of the role played in all this by The Times of London, the respected "Thundervoice" of newspapers. As the recognized mouthpiece of "The Establishment" at the time, it abetted the Czechoslovakian-obsession with a series of editorials which made clear to Hitler that we would not raise a hand to stop his assaults.

At least one Canadian editor was not fooled by Munich. To his everlasting credit, the late John W. Dufco, of the Winnipeg Free Press, authored an editorial entitled "What's All This Shouting For?"

From an objective vantage point of some 6,000 miles he could see the way the world was drifting. All honor to him for his wisdom in that crucial hour.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Four Japanese destroyers will visit Canadian and United States ports during the course of a 70-day training cruise this summer, it was reported in Tokyo Monday.

The RCN Pacific Command here has not yet been informed of the dates of the visit.

Regular meeting of Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the cafeteria of the Douglas Building. The business meeting will be followed by a panel discussion on "Green Gold—Tomorrow's Trees."

United Commercial Travelers, No. 434, will meet in Holyrood House, McBride Avenue, next Monday at 8 p.m.

Winners of the junior mixed pairs championship conducted by Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club were:

First, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Booth; second, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Turner; third, Pat Bishop and David Hill.

Chartered accountant John Woolcock and barrister Kenneth Murphy will team up to present a talk, "Incorporation of a Limited Company," to the Victoria chapter, Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants, at its monthly meeting in the Pacific Club, 6 p.m. Wednesday.

R. B. Longridge and H. L. Priske, past and present Victoria and District Legion zone commanders, will address a meeting of the Esquimalt Canadian Legion at the Legion Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

'PIRATES' WERE ON THE RUN

Three Langford boys held on joint charges of theft in connection with "pirating" two motorboats off Sidney were remanded a week for sentence when they appeared in juvenile court today.

Two remain in custody and the third was to be released to his parents.

The boys, aged 14, 15 and 16, said they were heading for the mainland because of domestic difficulties. They took a 15-foot outboard from Canoe Cove, ran it on to a rock on Moresby Island, then stole a 39-foot cruiser, the Maroka, from its wharf.

When they fouled a bowline in the craft's propeller they sent up a distress signal which was spotted by the ferry Tsawwassen, outboard from Swartz Bay. A boat was sent away to pick them up and the ferry took them to Richmond where they were held for the RCMP.

A new 4-H rabbit club has been formed here under auspices of the Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association. The 17 members are led by Mrs. R. Douglas and Mrs. G. Hett. Executive officers are Ricky Davies, president; Mark James, vice-president; Theresa Humphries, secretary, and Sandra Hett, treasurer.

Next meeting of Victoria Aquarium Society will be held in Norway House, Hillside Avenue, on Wednesday. A junior meeting will be held at 7.30 p.m. and will be followed by a general meeting at 8.15 p.m.

Anti-tank platoons of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will carry out firing practice at Albert Head, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday and Friday.

Weapons used will be 106 mm. recoilless rifles.

Cash and goods valued at $568 were stolen in a burglary of a new drug store at Colwood Plaza shopping centre overnight Sunday.

The thief forced a rear window of Belmont Drugs and took $200 cash from a drawer. He also got $200 worth of cigarettes and tobacco and two cameras valued at $168.

Free program of recorded music Thursday at 3 p.m. in Victoria Public Library's music room will feature the overture to the Barber of Seville, Schubert's string quartet No. 12 in C Minor and Stravinsky's Petrouchka.

It was fun the first time but more than annoying the second, a motorist apparently felt.

He told police Monday night that pranksters twice have picked up his small foreign car and deposited it on the sidewalk in the 700 block, View.

A meeting of the Registered Music Teachers' Association will be held in the city's health and welfare building, Cook Street, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

A free preview of films will be shown in the music room of the Victoria Public Library on Wednesday, starting at 3 p.m.

First meeting of the year of Victoria Gladiolus Society will take place at 8 p.m. Thursday in the council chamber of city hall.

Ben Powell, 18, of 322 Beckley, was fined $20 when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to being a minor in possession of liquor in a downtown cafe.

Police said he had three-quarters of a glass of rum in a washroom when checked by police. He said he got it "from a man."

A purse containing $6 cash and a quantity of stamps was stolen when a legislative buildings office was left unattended for a few minutes Monday.

Mona Jewel, 642 Cook, told police she locked the door of her Douglas Building office while she was away, and shortly after her return noticed the purse missing from her desk.

She said the office was accessible from an adjoining office and when she returned she passed a stranger coming out, a middle-aged man who spoke with an accent.

Gardeners digging up the last of their winter root crops could be a big help to Saturday's Surplus Food Stall.

The free food distribution will be held again at 732-Corcorant, said convener Mrs. E. E. Harper.

"A lot of people are starting to get their gardens ready and if they have dug up any winter roots, like beets, leeks or turnips, that they don't need, we sure could find a wonderful use for them," she said.

Donors can contact her at 5695 Patricia Bay Highway or by phoning GR 4-1750.

Winter Work at Saxe Point

Rustic outline of new retaining walls at Esquimalt's Saxe Point Park is taking shape under hands of a five-man crew. The winter works project was begun last month and will be completed in about 10 days. Designed to prevent erosion of the bank, the job will cost about $1,750 with the municipality's share only $450 and some 500 yards of rock from various blasting projects and some cement.

SIDEWALK GETAWAY

A hit-run car made its getaway by driving on the sidewalk after a crash with a parked auto near the waterfront Monday night.

City police said they sought a dark-colored 1952-54 car carrying 1960 plates with the first three digits, 336.

It was in collision with a car parked by Ronald G. Mathison, HMCS Skeena, on Moss, turned around and headed toward Dallas Road, mounting the curb and sidewalk at Faithful.

Protest Launched On New Lien Law

Government Clerk 'Jumped Gun' On Amendment, Auto Men Say

Protest against proposed amendment of the B.C. Mechanics' Lien Act, which would halt registration of liens under $50, was sounded by the Victoria branch, Automotive Retail Association, at the group's annual meeting Monday night in the Monterey Restaurant.

Intention of the government to amend the act came to light recently when several liens for under $50 were refused registration.

It was discovered that a clerk had "jumped the gun" and refused the registration after reading a departmental memorandum outlining the proposed amendment.

The meeting was attended by 30 branch members and the following officers were elected: Stan Hitchman, president; Wilf Clark, 1st vice-president; Dave Duncan, 2nd vice-president, and Earl Reynolds, secretary.

turnover in station leases due to the inability of lessees to make a decent living with the long hours imposed by the oil companies.

The meeting was attended by 30 branch members and the following officers were elected: Stan Hitchman, president; Wilf Clark, 1st vice-president; Dave Duncan, 2nd vice-president, and Earl Reynolds, secretary.

$700,000 BILL FOR ELECTION

Last year's provincial election cost the B.C. taxpayers more than $700,000.

A nine-month interim statement of provincial accounts from comptroller-general C. J. Ferber shows that up to Dec. 31, 1960, the government spent a total of $780,195 on administering the provincial Elections Act.

That includes not only costs of the Sept. 12 general election, but the usual year-round costs of operating an elections branch of the provincial secretary's department.

The amount set aside for that during the year was $78,258.

That leaves a little over the $700,000 to pay for the actual election.

CASH ONLY

The meeting agreed that limiting liens would have the effect of forcing garage owners to refuse to undertake repairs under $50 except for cash payment.

Such a step would not only earn them the ill will of their customers, but would work a hardship on many honest people who just did not have immediate cash to pay for repair work.

The meeting was angered by the fact the amendment was being sought immediately after the central registry office had doubled the fee for lien registration.

The government also came under fire for its increase of 3 cents a gallon in the gasoline tax.

It was agreed that although the government is now collecting almost one-third of the gasoline dollar, it is not making a proportionate return in the way of providing streets, roads and other facilities for motorists. It was also claimed that other gasoline users—marine and agricultural—are not paying a fair share of what had now become simply another general revenue tax.

Service station hours—set by a two-thirds majority of municipal councils under the Municipal Act—were discussed.

FORCED

It was agreed that an amendment to the act must be sought to provide regulation of hours to relate them to volume of business. It was charged that the oil companies were forcing service station lessees to stay open longer hours than could be justified by their trade.

In Greater Victoria in the past six months, it was stated, there had been a 20 per cent

B.C. Asked to Seize Unused Land Grants

All the old land grants—such as those to the E & N Railway—should be taken back by the government if they have not been developed, a conservationist declared Monday night.

The suggestion was made by Greater Victoria Conservation Council president Kenneth McAllister to a meeting of the organization in Victoria Art Gallery.

He said a stumbling block to progress exists on Vancouver Island due to the large land grants given by earlier governments "to railroads and gentlemen adventurers."

"At this time, when the services rendered by these institutions are being reduced and sometimes cancelled, it is my personal view that steps should be taken to return all undeveloped land and resources to the Crown as such surpluses are clear indication of excess generosity in the first instance.

"Such reversion should further be automatic any time service is curtailed for whatever reason."

Reverted lands could be used by the government for developing industry, agriculture, parks and recreation areas, urban centres and endowment land for universities, Mr. McAllister said.

'McKELVIE PARK' SUPPORTED BY CONSERVATION COUNCIL

Greater Victoria Conservation Council Monday endorsed an Up-Island petition to the provincial government seeking establishment of a 400-acre provincial park near Cobble Hill.

A strong delegation from Up-Island communities outlined their request to the council meeting in Victoria Art Gallery.

The park, on Cobble Hill Mountain, would be named Bruce McKelvie Memorial Park in honor of a well-known B.C. newspaperman and historian.

Kinsmen Offer 'Centre'

Health, Welfare Unit Proposed for Saanich

An offer to sponsor the construction of a joint $120,000 health and welfare building for Saanich has been made by the Kinsmen Club of Victoria, it was disclosed at a Saanich council meeting Monday.

The Saanich health department is now renting office space at 464 Gorge Road, and the welfare department is at 3681 Douglas Street.

The project would not interfere with planned amalgamation of health units in Greater Victoria and surrounding districts into a metropolitan health board.

START NEXT YEAR

Reeve George Chatterton told council Kinsmen are prepared to contribute a substantial sum towards the health and welfare centre.

Construction would start next year, he said.

Original plans called for a building to accommodate the Saanich and South Vancouver Island Health Unit, but the reeve proposed that the welfare department be included in the building plans.

He said the Kinsmen Club has agreed to this.

"There is a close liaison between the health and welfare departments," he said. "In my opinion they should both occupy the same building in the interest of efficiency and service."

But the reeve said if a joint building is acceptable to council, Saanich could not expect the Kinsmen Club to raise the total funds for its construction.

SAANICH AID

Saanich would be expected to share some of the costs, he said.

Coun. Ainslee Worthington, chairman of the health committee, said the building would be erected on the site designated as a civic centre at Swan Lake.

Council is negotiating for a total of 22 acres in the area to use for all future municipal buildings.

Welfare and health officials are satisfied with the site, Mr. Worthington said.

Rae McDonald, chairman of the Kinsmen building committee, said an initial estimate for a joint health and welfare building is $120,000.

$30,000 IN GRANTS

He said the Kinsmen Club, as well as other organizations, which for the present prefer to remain anonymous, would contribute to a building fund.

In addition, he said, Saanich would receive from federal-provincial grants a total of $30,000 towards its construction.

Mr. McDonald said a meeting between club officials and the Saanich building committee is scheduled within the next few weeks to discuss building plans.

2,000 MAIMED Fireworks Ban For Children Asked By MLA

A bid to stop sale of fireworks to children is being made in the legislature by one of the three women MLAs.

Mrs. Lois Haggen (CCF—Grand Forks) wants to control use of fireworks to responsible groups or organizations.

She has filed notice she will introduce a private bill to amend the Fireworks Regulation Act.

NEED PERMIT

She wants full provincial control over sale, display and discharge of fireworks. Anyone wanting to let off fireworks would have to get a permit from the provincial fire marshal.

Present regulations merely confine the sale of fireworks to a few days before Halloween. They are enforced by municipalities.

"They just simply don't work," said Mrs. Haggen today. "Somehow the fireworks get sold a lot sooner."

"Some people may call me a killjoy for taking fireworks away from children. But we don't put guns in their hands, we don't give them toys with poisonous paint, we don't light candles on Christmas trees any more."

Mrs. Haggen said 2,000 children in the U.S. are maimed or seriously injured each year by fireworks.

She said service clubs and other responsible groups should be the ones to put on displays of fireworks for the children.

Woman's Leg Broken In Car Mishap

Mrs. Helen Sears, 32, of 292 Virago, is in "fairly good" condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today after she was in collision with a car in the middle of the Old Island Highway at Colwood Monday night.

She suffered a compound fracture of the upper left leg, bruises and head abrasions after the accident during a heavy rainfall.

Colwood RCMP identified the driver of the car as Foonie Chung, 4020 Prospect Lake Road.

They said Mrs. Sears had been in her husband's car parked nearby. When she stepped out she apparently began walking on the pavement near Colwood Corner.

TRUCKER THROWN

Truck driver William Collins, 58, of 1960 Lee, is also in fairly good condition at Jubilee Hospital after being thrown to the street at Topaz and Quadra shortly before 6 p.m. Saturday.

His van was in collision with a car driven by Randall K. Larsen, 1235 Montrose, then veered into a stop sign, at which point Collins was thrown out.

Three people—pedestrian, cyclist and motorist—are in hospital with injuries received in separate traffic accidents in Saanich last week.

They are seven-year-old Ian Clay, 2683 Parkway; Horace Goad, 54, of 442 Conway, and Peter Richards, 36, of 1951 Argyle.

Brighten Hair With Spray For Coming Gala Dates

By PENNY SAVER

If you are planning to attend the Symphony Ball this week and would like to experiment with your hair-do, why not try using color spray that's easy to use and shampoos out once you decide to revert to original color.

In four ounce cans that sell at $1.35, spray is available in either silver or gold. It will certainly add a dramatic accent if used to create a highlighting streak or provocative tips.

Another handy gadget for the woman who sets her own hair is 'teasing' brush that many hairdressers use to create that soft, fluffy effect when brushing out curls.

These are now available in a store I was in this week and are moderately priced at 39 cents. Brushes are of nylon with pink plastic forked handles. If used to set curls, you slide strands of hair into forked part of handle, roll to scalp and secure hair with a bobby pin.

Do you have trouble finding household keys? Solve this problem by getting one of the nine-inch brass keys that sell for $3.95 then hang it on a wall in your kitchen or some other convenient spot.

Large key is extremely handsome and useful, too—it has five hooks on which to hang those elusive keys!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Valentine's Day—A Day To Dust Off Your Heart

Valentine's Day is one of those sentimental, lovely days, which linger on year after year, thank heaven! These special days break the jam of daily routine and make us realize that life is not all meat and potatoes, not that there is anything wrong with meat and potatoes.

This reminds me of a time when my daughter was a very young child. She said to me, "Food is the most important thing in life."

I replied, "Food is important but it is also important to have friends, someone to like and to love."

My child answered "If you don't have food you can't love anybody."

While this is true to a certain extent it seems to me that too many people have dropped the habit of investing in Valentine's Day, not because they wanted to or meant to, but because of the responsibilities and demands of life.

I know of one couple who always exchanged sonnets on this day, and I know others who exchanged remembrances. But they no longer do this simply because the habit was broken due to rush and pressure.

This is a day to dust off your heart! It is a day to remember those you love. If you have dropped the habit, why not pick it up again? Of course we should dust off our hearts more than one day a year. We could benefit by dusting it off every single day.

We can do this in many ways. We can refresh our awareness of those we love and those who love us. We can expose our hearts to music, to poetry, to art and to inspiring literature. We can also take time to look at, to really see, the beautiful world about us.

Dusting off our hearts will keep us youthful and make life glow.

The Ladies' Gallery

Mrs. Murray sums up main interests in life as family, gardening, cooking and reading.

Wife of Mainland MLA Enjoys Yearly Visits

By PAT DUFOUR

Soft-spoken Mrs. W. H. Murray, wife of Social Credit MLA for Prince Rupert, and their 11-year-old daughter Christina, have been making a yearly pilgrimage to Victoria since Mr. Murray was elected four years ago. And they still look forward to it.

"There's never time to be lonely," Mrs. Murray explains. "So many ex-Rupert people in Victoria, we always have lots of friends to visit."

Other attractions include delving through the supermarkets and sitting through legislative sessions in the Ladies' Gallery.

PROUD OF HOME TOWN

An ardent booster for her home town, Mrs. Murray describes it as a "real, go-ahead busy town."

"The population may be only 12,000, but we have 50 clubs," she states proudly. She herself is an active member of the Daughters of the Nile, Order of the Eastern Star and ladies' auxiliary to the First Presbyterian Church.

She's quick to tell you of the civic centre that's the pride of Prince Rupert. "We use it for handicrafts, keep fit classes, Little Theatre, swimming, basketball and other community projects. Upkeep is maintained through memberships and a civic grant."

Content to stay in the background and let her husband forge ahead in politics, she still finds much of her time taken up in public appearances at dinners and coffee parties.

Speech making, she admits, is not her forte.

"I recently had to make a speech at an old people's dinner. When I was asked I almost fell through the floor. I was so nervous—I don't think they heard a word."

Like most Prince Rupert people, the Murray family love boating.

BOATING IN SUMMER

"During the summer we make up parties, go out in the boat and set crab pots. While we're waiting we picnic on the beach."

Main industry of Prince Rupert is fishing. Says Mrs. Murray, "It's known as the halibut capital of the world."

Lumbering also contributes to the city's economy.

"If we do any complaining," says Murray, "it's about the misconception that the rest of Canada has regarding our weather."

"We get quite touchy about weather reports that always manage to describe conditions as being much worse than they really are. Actually, we have quite good weather most of the time."

Although she admits that when her husband is making a speech in the House she is "very nervous," Mrs. Murray feels her place is here when the House is sitting.

"It's important to try and keep the family together," she says softly—but firmly.

Auxiliary Money For Group Home

Money was voted at last meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Family and Children's Service to purchase stair and hall carpeting and tiles for the living-room floor in the Carey Road Group Home.

Funds were also voted to pay for out-of-school tuition of a foster child of the service.

Guest speaker W. T. Lawson, supervisor of the Service's three group foster homes in Greater Victoria, told the meeting of the work of these homes with emotionally disturbed children and those from broken homes.

Plans were made for the annual Ridotto in early June.

Anyone Want To Give Record Player Away?

It was announced at meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Family and Children's Service that a 3-speed record player, (one that is simple to operate) is needed for the Service's Carey Road Group Foster Home, where 12 children, all wards of the F and CS, are living. Anyone wishing to donate such a record player may telephone EV 4-9640 and a member of the auxiliary would call and pick it up.

Legacy Increases Chapter Balance; Many Donations

Treasurer's report, given by Mrs. E. G. Pritchard, at annual luncheon meeting of Florence Nightingale Chapter, IOOE, in the Pacific Club, Monday, showed annual receipts of $3,009.01; disbursements $958.60 and a balance of $2,247.28.

Legacy of $2,000, left the chapter by the late Mrs. George Mellor and earmarked for some form of hospital work, increased this balance. Also included was life membership fund of $85.75.

Money-making events during the year, including tea, bridge tea, luncheons, home-cooking stall at a garden party, an imaginary bazaar and special drawings brought in a total of $839.11.

A donation of $100 was made to Victoria University fund; $100 for bursaries; $100 to secondary education and $50 to the Golden Jubilee fund.

Canned fruit juices and soups were given the retarded children's centre and library books to the chapter's adopted school and hampers to the needy. Used clothing was donated and the Goodwill Enterprises assisted.

Special guests at the meeting were Mrs. A. B. Hall, Nanaimo, provincial chapter organizer; Mrs. Owen Fowler, Victoria Municipal Chapter regent; and Mrs. A. J. Shanks, Navy League Chapter member who received a basket of flowers from the regent to mark her 84th birthday today.

Mrs. Hall installed officers. Mrs. G. C. Baker was returned as regent for another year; Miss M. Hurst is first vice-regent; Mrs. W. Herriot, second; Mrs. A. Minnis, secretary; Mrs. E. G. Pritchard, treasurer; Mrs. W. R. Roskelley, educational; Mrs. W. C. Hudson, Echoes; Mrs. T. W. Colley, services at home and abroad; Mrs. Karl Mills, standard bearer.

Honorary regents are Mrs. W. Blair, Mrs. T. Lumsden, Mrs. Roskelley and Mrs. Helen Baker.

Problems of life in "happy-go-lucky" Thailand were presented by Mrs. Orville Carlson in word pictures and color slides at recent meeting of Victoria Home Economics and Dietetic Association.

A missionary on leave from Thailand, the speaker said the Thai people have "a simple, primitive way of life. It would be impossible to superimpose our ways on them. Even in the schools, education is taught in an easy-going style."

"Thai people are not progressive, she pointed out. Chinese own the big businesses and the East Indians control the yard goods trade."

"In the north the tribal groups have no written language. Each village makes its own product—umbrellas, silk, stoles, lacquer, silver bowls—all by hand," Mrs. Carlson said and then added: "It's in the north that the Communists are infiltrating. The people are an easy prey since they are not loyal to the country, only to their immediate society."

Mrs. Carlson was thanked by Mrs. D. Donaldson. Mrs. John A. Clay presided. Reports showed that nearly $60 was raised at a party and that the demand for the "square" cook books had exceeded the supply. It was voted to order another 200.

Job Opportunity Lack Could Force Mature Women From Labor Market

Decrease in the number of teen-age girls in the labor force and the marked rise in the numbers of mature women holding jobs, is one of the problems the Women's Bureau in the Federal Department of Labor is concerned with today.

"These two groups may seem totally different, nevertheless they are related," Miss Marion Royce, head of the bureau, at Ottawa, told a representative group of Victoria women, Monday night, at a meeting sponsored by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club.

Sobering aspect of the interrelations at present, she pointed out, is one of sheer job opportunities.

"The rate of unemployment among teen-agers is already alarmingly high and we have only begun to cope with the 'bulge' from increased birth rate of the war years and since. This influx of youth could mean that older women may have to withdraw from the labor market."

The older woman, re-entering the labor force, faces difficulties, but "if she had a satisfactory work experience in her earlier life, she has an advantage over the person for whom paid work has no meaning."

The problem of the teen-age girl is "principally one of transition from school to work. If she has some training for a field of work in which there is a demand, the way is smoother, provided she begins work under competent supervision."

Without any special preparation for work and with little formal education "the first available job is likely to be the answer."

It serves no purpose to keep the teen-ager in school where there is often a lack of suitable curriculum, the speaker believed. Yet, when they do leave school they are often lost sight of.

"We need accessible counselling services," she urged, "perhaps a system of registration that would keep track of them and also some provision of training on the job for them."

Miss Royce cited the day-release system in England, where a day a week in school complements experience in paid work. Another idea she felt "might be a school-work program that would help bridge the gap from school to a place in the labor force."

Counselling and training facilities were also important for the older woman re-entering the labor force, Miss Royce believed. She also urged that "more thought be given to education of the woman nearing or past 30."

"Married young, her children have reached a stage which frees her to think more broadly of her place in the community, either as paid worker or volunteer. If she has not married she is likely now to be interested in professional development or, perhaps, a new field of work."

Reports Show Busy Year For Navy League Chapter

Reports held the spotlight during annual luncheon and meeting of Navy League Chapter, IOOE, held in Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

That chapter's motto, "Closer Action," was adhered to during the year in its many successful group projects. These included Golden Jubilee Jamboree, Penny Sale, St. Patrick's Day tea, bingos, a garden party, a rummage sale and additional teas.

Total receipts for the year were $1,296.43 and disbursements were $890.25.

Scribblers and candy were sent to chapter's adopted school at Moberley Lake. Book prize was sent to leading student in Canadian history at Central Junior High School and National Geographical Magazine was renewed for that school.

Bursary of $100 was presented to a sea cadet and $200 went towards secondary education.

Chapter carried on its important work with Veteran's Hospital.

Needy families were given hampers and other donations and afghans, socks and booties valued at $64.25 were sent to Municipal Chapter for distribution.

Donations to services at home and abroad included $12.50 towards work in India.

A lifetime membership was presented to Mrs. F. J. Nobbs, group's treasurer, for her many years of service.

Special guests at the luncheon were Mrs. Owen Fowler, Mrs. P. R. Noel and Mrs. John Hermans.

Executive officers for 1961 are regent, Mrs. W. C. Norman; first vice-regent, Mrs. F. Mawdsley; second, Mrs. R.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"You shouldn't have to do dishes on Valentine's Day—leave 'em till tomorrow."

TODAY'S RECIPE

FISH AND CHIPS

Two pounds fish fillets, salt, 2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen French-fried potatoes, 1 egg, beaten, 1 cup water, 1 1/2 cups of sifted all-purpose flour.

If fillets are frozen, allow to thaw. Dry fillets well and cut into portions of uniform size. Sprinkle with salt. Heat potatoes as directed on the package and keep warm while fish is being cooked. Make a batter by combining egg and water then lightly stirring in flour with three or four stirs. A secret of success with this batter is not to overmix it. Dip fillet portions in batter. Place, single layer deep, in frying basket and fry in deep hot vegetable oil at 375° F. until puffed and golden brown, turning once. Drain on absorbent paper and keep cooked portions warm in a slow oven. Repeat until all of the fish is cooked. Serve immediately with French-fried potatoes. Makes 6 servings.

DEAR ABBY

Modern Office Procedure

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In our office the work day is supposed to start at 9 a.m. At exactly 9 a.m. in come these three girls who work here, too. They have their hair up in curlers with bandanas wrapped around their heads. They haven't a drop of makeup on. They hang up their coats and go directly to the ladies' room where they laugh, talk, comb their hair and put on their faces. They get to their desks at 9:45, fiddle around in their desk drawers and wait until the 10 o'clock coffee break.

I've worked in offices for 28 years and have never seen anything like it, but I am told this is typical. Does this go on in offices where the help is supposed to be earning their money?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: No. Only in offices where the office manager isn't earning his.

DEAR ABBY: I just found out that my mother's maiden name is on my birth certificate, which means that she was not married to my father at the time of my birth. She is dead now. I know that I am illegitimate, but that's not my problem. I was married at a large church wedding and have four children. I am worried sick over the fact that they are illegitimate because of my history. Where do they stand?

VERY WORRIED

DEAR VERY: You have nothing to worry about. If you were married before the birth of your children, they are legitimate.

DEAR ABBY: If I don't get help with my problem pretty soon, you will be reading about our family in the headlines. My husband hates our 14-year-old son like poison. (He tells him so to his face.) Our boy has never been in any serious trouble. He's not a very good student, but his father picks on him so much it is no wonder he is always nervous and upset. He is our only child and all this fighting is putting me in my grave.

I love my husband, but if I show any affection toward him in front of my son, the boy gets jealous and hurt. And I don't dare show any love for my son in front of my husband or he gets violently jealous. I feel like a bone between two dogs. Please help me.

A BONE BETWEEN TWO DOGS

DEAR "BONE": The hostility between your husband and son didn't develop over night, and won't be resolved that quickly. Your husband and son both need therapy. If you can't afford a psychiatrist, get in touch with your local Family Service Association for counselling service.

What's your problem? For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

GENERAL STRIKE THREAT
PORT ALBERNI—A meeting of Local 1-85, International Woodworkers of America, here Monday endorsed a general strike in B.C. if "further restrictive labor legislation" is introduced at the current session of the legislature.

The resolution calling for a general strike will be submitted to the B.C. Federation of Labor for approval.

DRIVER TRAPPED
House Hit By Runaway Oil Truck
LADYSMITH—A 10-ton runaway oil truck Monday rammed a house two feet off its foundation, sending the driver to hospital with multiple cuts and bruises.

Donald Gardner, 19, is reported in good condition at the hospital here. He was trapped in the wreckage two and one-half hours.

No one else was hurt in the accident, but Mrs. Margaret Garvice, wife of the owner of the house, miraculously escaped serious injury.

She was standing in the bedroom where the truck hit. The impact threw her and a bed across the room.

DRIVER TRAPPED
 The partially-loaded truck went out of control on a slight hill on Bayview Road here, just south of the village limits at 11 a.m.

Rescue workers had to jack up the house, tear the bottom off the truck's cab and remove the seat to get the driver out of the tangled mass of metal.

The truck left a gaping 15-by-10-foot hole in the house.

J. W. MORRIS, District Superintendent.

Police Workload Rises in Oak Bay
 Oak Bay police handled 566 more complaints last year than in 1959. Chief Robert Smith told police commissioners in his annual report.

Work in all departments was heavier on the average, although convictions in criminal cases dropped by four to 24 for the 12-month period.

With 756 cases of all kinds, police handled 150 more than in the previous year, 426 of them Motor Vehicle Act convictions, as against 323 in 1959.

ONE FATALITY
 There were 28 convictions under B.C. Statutes, such as liquor violations and action under the Mental Hospitals Act (21 in 1959); 264 convictions under local bylaws (184 in 1959).

There was a drop of six in motor vehicle accidents attended, for a total 89 including one fatality. There were no deaths in the year previous or any year since early in the 1950s.

Of the total number of miscellaneous complaints, 6,764 compared with 6,198 the year before, 299 of them were for insecure premises, eight more than 1959.

There were 37 ambulance calls, a drop of 38 because for

Conference Attracts 38 Island Pupils
 Vancouver Island will send 38 students to the annual high school conference Feb. 24 and 25 at the University of B.C.

Close to 300 boys and girls from all parts of the province will be on the campus for a program of typical lectures, discussion, campus tours, and sports, and a concluding banquet and dance.

On returning to their own schools they will report to fellow students on conditions at the university.

Island delegates are Brian Case and Judy Diment, Mount Douglas High School, Victoria; Glen White and Lloyd Bailey, Milnes Landing High School; Alan Fraser and Ginny Good, George Bonner High, Cobble Hill; Adele Piper and Norman Macpherson, Cowichan High; and Lee Davies and Wendy Baker, Queen Margaret's School, both in Duncan; Marian Halse and Terry O'Shea, Comox Valley High; Gail Kotulla and Phyllis Salmark, Ladysmith; Sandra Howden and Michael Yip, Lake Cowichan; David Kelly and Audrey Stasiuk, Nanaimo; Ruddy Wenz and Dianne Garrison, Qualicum Beach; Judith Shark and Adeline Krueger, Sooke High; and Ray Burgess and Arlene Le Blanc, Smith Memorial High, Port Alberni; James Earle and Margaret Nyland, Port Alice; George Clarke and Hilda Wilson, Port Hardy; Gerold Betts and Peter Green, Port McNeill.

Parts Stolen From Wreckers
 Auto parts valued at $100 and a 1935 issue $20 bill were among items reported stolen in two burglaries in Victoria over the weekend.

The car parts were taken from Victoria Auto Wreckers, 631 Princess, and included electrical items and tools.

Mrs. L. H. Schaffer, 611 St. Charles, told police a burglar entered her house by forcing a garage door, and took the $20 bill and a leather wallet after ransacking drawers.

40-60 Age Group Safest Behind Wheel in Oak Bay
 Drivers with the fewest accidents in Oak Bay last year were aged between 40 and 60, an annual survey of police reports indicate.

In the same period it was shown the worst drivers in the municipality were those aged 16-19, followed closely by the group aged 31-35.

Police said there were 29 accidents involving drivers up to 19 years old; 22 in which the drivers were between 31 and 35.

In the next-to-youngest age group, 20-25 years, there were 12 accidents and from 26-30 years there were nine.

From 36-40 there were 15; from 41-45 there were again

$225,000 April Vote On Duncan Sewer Plan
DUNCAN—Duncan City Council Monday night gave the green light to plans for a new $225,000 lagoon-type sewer system to serve the northwest and southeast sections of the city.

City clerk was instructed to prepare a bylaw to finance installation of the system for a vote in April, and consulting engineer Russell Potter of Victoria was ordered to prepare final working drawings and specifications.

NUISANCE
 The lagoon-type system was selected over a large pipe running to Cowichan Bay after Mr. Potter told council currents there ran counter-clockwise and any effluent dumped would be a nuisance to the area. Cost of running the pipe would be prohibitive.

New system will be in addition to the present installation. Effluent will settle in a walled lagoon on 26 acres of Indian property east of the city and pumped out to the Cowichan River.

PETITIONS
 Earlier in the meeting, council received two petitions from residents in the southeast section of the city whose homes were damaged by January floods. One petition asked for an adequate sewer system and the other for improved drainage.

One recommendation by the petitioners, urging bigger pumps for the present system serving area, will be incorporated in new plans.

W. M. Ratcliffe, who presented the drainage petition said unless something is done to correct the problem created by recent flooding and high water, "we'll be raising a generation of junior sailors."

Mr. Potter was instructed to survey the area and prepare a report in 10 days on what can be done to improve the area's drainage.

Dairymen Elected
DUNCAN—Grant Loveseth of Somenos, dairyman and a trustee of School District 65, was elected president of the Cowichan Agricultural Society at a meeting held recently.

Other officers elected were: Christ Williams, Duncan, and John Hulbert, Koksilah, vice-presidents; W. R. Barker, secretary-treasurer.

PT. ALBERNI MILL SET TO REOPEN
PORT ALBERNI—The So-mass division of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., partially closed since Monday, was scheduled to resume operation late this afternoon, company officials said today.

The mill was partly closed following a dispute between union and management about overtime work and the use of maintenance crews to repair a hydraulic barker.

Union officials claimed the closure, which affected 320 out of 770 employees, was deliberately rigged to intimidate employees.

They said management classified as emergency, normal work which could have been properly done by employment of additional workers.

Instead, maintenance crews were asked to carry out the repairs.

The company said four men refused to carry out essential maintenance works on Saturday and a further 21 men refused to do similar work on Sunday.

QUEEN'S CHILDREN SERIES BEGINS TODAY

No children in the world are subject to as much public scrutiny, as much comment, as much acclaim or criticism as those of Queen Elizabeth. Her tactful handling of heir-apparent Prince Charles, Princess Anne and baby Prince Andrew, a year old on Sunday, her discreet attempt to bring them up properly, her typical mother's love, are detailed in a series of five articles beginning today in the Times. Writer Langley Hall skillfully gives an insight into the lives of the Queen's Children. Read it on Page 5.

Rocket to Venus Just a Starter

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet scientists confidently forecast the beginning of an era of interplanetary flights today as a Russian rocket streaked through space on course toward Venus.

Russian scientist Alexander Markov said there is "no doubt" that after the current rocket flight others with automatic instruments would be sent to Venus.

"They will transmit back to earth information about the atmosphere of Venus, the composition of its surface, flora and fauna, if they exist on this mysterious planet," Markov said in an article in the Soviet newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda.

ROCKET ON TARGET

Russia reported Monday night that the 1,420-pound rocket, launched Sunday from an earth satellite, had covered almost 300,000 miles by Monday morning and was dead

JFK PRAISES SPACE SHOT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today sent congratulations to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the Russian launching of a space rocket toward Venus.

Kennedy said the United States will watch the rocket's progress "with interest" and wished Khrushchev "success in another chapter of man's exploration of the universe."

on course. They said the rocket will reach the area of Venus in the latter half of May.

All the equipment aboard the rocket is functioning as intended, Tass said. During the first playback, the temperature aboard was 68 degrees Fahrenheit.

FLYING AIR COMMAND KEPT ALOFT BY U.S.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The United States Strategic Air Command announced today it now has an airborne command post in the air at all times.

The airborne command posts are intended as stand-by units to take over should the underground control centre here or its alternates be knocked out.

8 Men Feared Drowned in B.C. Coast Tragedy

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four aircraft, and a flotilla of small vessels were losing a race against rapidly deteriorating weather today in efforts to locate a missing 40-foot camp tender with seven men aboard.

The RCAF Search and Rescue Squadron said gale force winds were expected to hit the coast before noon, halting the search that was started with the discovery of the body of one of the eight men who were on the Green Valley when it left Texada Island, 40 miles north of here, Monday morning.

The men were going on a four-day holiday to Pender Harbor, on the mainland, about 45 miles north of here.

The RCAF said the flotilla of ships, 13 in all, "will wait out the gale in safety."

Among vessels taking part in the search is the Esquimalt based naval auxiliary vessel Whitehorse.

A spokesman said, "We're now sure a ball accident has happened," adding that the general search area now is centred off McRae Cove.

A chain of unpredictable circumstances led to almost a 10-hour delay in the start of the search.

The Green Valley, a black-hulled tender with a green cabin, left a small logging camp operated by an affiliate of L & K Lumber about 9:30 a.m. Monday on a 15-mile trip to Pender Harbor. It carried eight men when it left in clear and good weather.

Later Monday a body was discovered floating off McRae Cove by the Royal T. First indications were that it had been in the water three or four days, and officials decided against a search at that time.

Late Monday night a call to the rescue centre from Pender Harbor indicated the Green Valley was overdue. Radio communication with the logging camp was severed by a failure in the camp's power supply and the grim news of the boat's disappearance was not confirmed until an RCAF tender was able to travel to the camp to check on the Green Valley's departure.

A general marine bulletin was issued asking all vessels to join in the search. At least 13 government, public works, RCAF, and police vessels and several private tugs have so far answered the call. An air force helicopter will also be used if weather permits, but gale warnings have been issued for Georgia Strait today.

An air force spokesman said the gale winds were approaching faster than expected. Light marine vessels were expected to abandon the search by midday.

The Green Valley normally carries loggers to and from camps along the B.C. coast.

It was not known how many of the missing were loggers or what was the strength of the Green Valley's crew. Search and rescue said identification of those aboard was being withheld until next of kin have been notified.

The air force said additional planes would join in the search once the general search area was narrowed to a more specific spot.

The Queen's Britannia airliner made a 50-mile detour off its normal course to give the monarch her first look at Everest.

The Britannia made several runs past the mountain, about 1,000 feet below its 29,000-foot summit.

The warning was contained in the government's annual defence report to parliament. It was the first time that the government had placed emphasis in the report on China's military strength.

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government warned today that the "rising power" of Communist China has become a potential threat to world peace and said the West must maintain adequate strength to discourage any aggression by either China or the Soviet bloc.

The warning was contained in the government's annual defence report to parliament. It was the first time that the government had placed emphasis in the report on China's military strength.

Another example of the government's "ersatz generosity" is the policy of taking free medical care cards away from all unemployed people receiving social allowances.

Another example, he said, was reduction of the extra diet allowance for families of tuberculosis victims, to a maximum of $7.50, done last April.

Mr. Strachan said the government should be more respectful and call it petrol.

Hope that rocket don't hit Venus too hard. She's an armless old thing.

They can't have civil war in th' Congo. Th' people aren't polite enough.

Now that gas is bein' taxed into th' luxury class, we should be more respectful and call it petrol.

FIND PROJECT OR NO GRANT CIDC PROBLEM

The Capital Improvement District Commission has not come up with a single Greater Victoria project in the last 10 months on which to spend its $200,000 grant from the B.C. government.

If it doesn't decide on something before March 31, it will lose the grant. That is the end of the government's fiscal year and all outstanding monies are ploughed back into the treasury at that time.

Another $200,000 grant becomes available April 1, in the 1961-62 estimates.

The pressure is on the CIDC, meeting scheduled this Thursday.

Its members hope that after 10 months of indecision they will finally agree on a recommendation to the government, which must give approval to its projects.

WIRE BRIEFS

Trial Date Moved

DACCA, Pakistan (Reuters)—The Queen and Prince Philip had a spectacular airborne look at the world's highest mountains as they continued their Asian tour today.

The royal couple saw Mount Everest as they flew from West Pakistan to the east section of the country, separated by 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

Wheat Payment Set

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Hamilton announced in the Commons today that an interim payment of 10 cents a bushel will be made on the 1959-60 Prairie wheat pool.

Russians Stone Belgian Embassy

LONDON (CP)—The slaying of Patrice Lumumba shocked governments around the world today and sparked new blasts today at United Nations performance in The Congo from both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The Soviet Union unofficially withdrew its recognition of Dag Hammarskjöld as United Nations secretary-general and demanded that all foreign troops get out of The Congo within one month.

The government statement, reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, said Russia would have nothing to do with Hammarskjöld in future. It charged that the slaying of the ousted Congolese premier was "an international crime incompatible with the United Nations charter."

The note also demanded the arrest and trial of Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga Province and army strongman Joseph Mobutu.

The bitter Soviet statement came as demonstrations erupted in a number of world capitals.

Some 6,000 students and factory workers smashed windows of Belgium's embassy in Moscow.

In Belgrade, hundreds of Yugoslavs burst into the Belgian embassy, broke windows and hurled furniture into the street. Crowds in the street burned curtains and a flag belonging to the embassy.

Other demonstrations were held outside Belgian legations in London, Rome and Bombay.

In Cairo, about 20 demonstrators gathered outside the United States information agency shouting pro-Lumumba slogans.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Yugoslavia called on the Security Council to order an "urgent and energetic" investigation to fix the blame for the slayings. (See also page 10.)

The Soviet Union assailed the UN for failing to protect Lumumba and called Hammarskjöld the man ultimately responsible for "this bloody, black deed."

DEMAND PROBE

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green today denounced as deplorable Russia's action in withdrawing recognition of Dag Hammarskjöld as secretary-general of the United Nations.

He told the Commons it could only add to the difficulties faced by the UN in The Congo.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

By Stuart Keale

After two months of patient book-browsing and waiting, I have finally acquired a copy of "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," by William L. Shirer—and I'm annoyed.

The bill for the book was $12. Whatever has happened to the price of books? Novellas thinner than beef sandwiches are selling for about $4. Inferior novels (like "Two Weeks in a Strange Town") cost $6.50. Pre-publication price on "The Wonders of Life On Earth" was $10.40.

If memory serves, the first Shirer book ("Berlin Diary," published in the early war years) cost about $4.

I am aware that the cost of printing and bookbinding has gone up. But surely not 200 per cent.

"The Third Reich" sells in the United States for $10, or 20 per cent less than we pay in Canada.

Because of the high price of books here, a number of my friends are now importing their favorites from England. Not that I recommend this altogether; they tend to be a little hard on the eyes, and the production values (except in fine editions) are not comparable.

I asked a local book-dealer what the effect of these high prices would have on the reading habits of our nation.

"It's driving us into paper-backs," he acknowledged.

"We may become a country of delayed-readers. In other words, if you can wait a year or so, you can pick up the best-sellers for 75 cents or $1."

A good example of this is James Michener's "Hawaii," which is still near the top of the lists in hard covers, but selling like mad as a paper-back at 90 cents.

Mr. Michener, incidentally, says he doesn't mind.

Having got this off my chest, let me say that "The Third Reich" is one of the most fascinating books I have ever read and at one cent a page ($12 for 1,200 pages) may even be a real bargain.

Shirer, a crack radio reporter in Berlin when Hitler came to power, spent five years assembling his mighty tome, and in the process waded through literally tons of captured documents. The result is a careful, painstaking, documented analysis of one of the most sordid eras in history.

This is also a disturbing book. For it shows how we—and by that, I mean the British and our French allies—sold the Czechs down the river, and thus emboldened Hitler to plunge the world into the greatest massacre known to man.

It is quite clear, from the captured documents, that the Fuehrer could have been stopped; at the Rhineland, at Austria, and in Czechoslovakia. His generals advised him that the French alone "could have made mincemeat" of existing Nazi armies. Hitler conceded that he had only five divisions with which to defend the West front. But his bluff worked.

It is also disquieting, for a journalist, to read of the role played in all this by "The Times" of London, the respected "Thunderer" of newspapers. As the recognized mouthpiece of "The Establishment" at the time, it abetted the Czechoslovakian obsequies with a series of editorials which made clear to Hitler that we would not raise a hand to stop his assaults.

At least one Canadian editor was not fooled by Munich. To his everlasting credit, the late John W. Dufoe of the Winnipeg Free Press authored an editorial entitled "What's All The Shouting For?"

From an objective vantage point of some 6,000 miles he could see the way the world was drifting. All honor to him for his wisdom in that crucial hour.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Four Japanese destroyers will visit Canadian and United States ports during the course of a 70-day training cruise this summer, it was reported in Tokyo Monday.

The RCN Pacific Command here has not yet been informed of the dates of the visit.

Regular meeting of Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the cafeteria of the Douglas Building. A junior meeting will be followed by a panel discussion on "Green Gold—Tomorrow's Trees."

United Commercial Travelers, No. 434, will meet in Holyrood House, McBride Avenue, next Monday at 8 p.m.

Winners of the junior mixed pairs championship conducted by Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club were:

First, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Booth; second, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Turner; third, Pat Bishop and David Hill.

Chartered accountant John Kellock and barrister Kenneth Murphy will team up to present a talk, "Incorporation of a Limited Company," to the Victoria chapter, Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants, at its monthly meeting in the Pacific Club, 6 p.m. Wednesday.

R. B. Longridge and H. L. Priske, past and present Victoria and District Legion zone commanders, will address a meeting of the Esquimalt Canadian Legion at the Legion Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

'PIRATES' WERE ON THE RUN

Three Langford boys held on joint charges of theft in connection with "pirating" two motorboats off Sidney were remanded a week for sentence when they appeared in juvenile court today.

Two remain in custody and the third was to be released to his parents.

The boys, aged 14, 15 and 15, said they were heading for the mainland because of domestic difficulties. They took a 15-foot outboard from Canoe Cove, ran it on to a rock on Moresby Island, then stole a 35-foot cruiser, the Maroka, from its wharf.

When they fouled a bowline in the craft's propeller they sent up a distress signal which was spotted by the ferry Tsawwassen, outboard from Swartz Bay. A boat was sent away to pick them up and the ferry took them to Richmond where they were held for the RCMP.

A new 4-H rabbit club has been formed here under auspices of the Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association. The 17 members are led by Mrs. R. Douglas and Mrs. G. Hett. Executive officers are Rick Davies, president; Mark James, vice-president; Theresa Humphries, secretary, and Sandra Hett, treasurer.

Next meeting of Victoria Aquarium Society will be held in Norway House, Hillside Avenue, on Wednesday. A junior meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by a general meeting at 8:15 p.m.

Anti-tank platoons of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will carry out firing practice at Albert Head, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday and Friday.

Weapons used will be 106 mm. recoilless rifles.

Cash and goods valued at $568 were stolen in a burglary of a new drug store at Colwood Plaza shopping centre overnight Sunday.

The thief forced a rear window of Belmont Drugs and took $290 cash from a drawer. He also got $200 worth of cigarettes and tobacco and two cameras valued at $168.

Free program of recorded music Thursday at 3 p.m. in Victoria Public Library's music room will feature the overture to the Barber of Seville, Schubert's string quartet No. 12 in C Minor and Stravinsky's Petrouchka.

It was fun the first time but more than annoying the second, a motorist apparently felt.

He told police Monday night that pranksters twice have picked up his small foreign car and deposited it on the sidewalk in the 700 block, View.

A meeting of the Registered Music Teachers' Association will be held in the city's health and welfare building, Cook Street, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

A free preview of films will be shown in the music room of the Victoria Public Library on Wednesday, starting at 3 p.m.

First meeting of the year of Victoria Gladiolus Society will take place at 8 p.m. Thursday in the council chamber of city hall.

Ben Powell, 18, of 322 Beckley, was fined $20 when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to being a minor in possession of liquor in a downtown cafe.

Police said he had three-quarters of a glass of rum in a washroom when checked by police. He said he got it from a man.

Winter Work at Saxe Point

Rustic outline of new retaining walls at Esquimalt's Saxe Point Park is taking shape under hands of a five-man crew. The winter works project was begun last month and will be completed in about 10 days. Designed to prevent erosion of the bank, the job will cost about $1,750 with the municipality's share only $450 and some 500 yards of rock from various blasting projects and some cement.

SIDEWALK GETAWAY

A hit-run car made its getaway by driving on the sidewalk after a crash with a parked auto near the waterfront Monday night.

City police said they sought a dark-colored 1952-54 car carrying 1960 plates with the first three digits, 336.

It was in collision with a car parked by Ronald G. Mathison, HMCS Skeena, on Moss, turned around and headed toward Dallas Road, mounting the curb and sidewalk at Faithful.

Protest Launched On New Lien Law

Government Clerk 'Jumped Gun' On Amendment, Auto Men Say

Protest against proposed amendment of the B.C. Mechanics' Lien Act, which would halt registration of liens under $50, was sounded by the Victoria branch, Automotive Retail Association, at the group's annual meeting Monday night in the Monterey Restaurant.

Intention of the government to amend the act came to light recently when several liens for under $50 were refused registration.

It was discovered that a clerk had 'jumped the gun' and refused the registration after reading a departmental memorandum outlining the proposed amendment.

The meeting agreed that limiting liens would have the effect of forcing garage owners to refuse to undertake repairs under $50 except for cash payment.

Such a step would not only earn them the ill will of their customers, but would work a hardship on many honest people who just did not have immediate cash to pay for repair work.

The meeting was angered by the fact the amendment was being sought immediately after the central registry office had doubled the fee for lien registration.

The government also came under fire for its increase of 3 cents a gallon in the gasoline tax.

It was agreed that although the government is now collecting almost one-third of the gasoline dollar, it is not making a proportionate return in the way of providing streets, roads and other facilities for motorists.

It was also claimed that other gasoline users—marine and agricultural—are not paying a fair share of what had now become simply an other general revenue tax.

Service station hours—set by a two-thirds majority of municipal councils under the Municipal Act—were discussed.

FORCED

It was agreed that an amendment to the act must be sought to provide regulation of hours to relate them to volume of business. It was charged that the oil companies were forcing service station lessees to stay open longer hours than could be justified by their trade.

In Greater Victoria in the past six months, it was stated, there had been a 20 per cent turnover in station leases due to the inability of lessees to make a decent living with the long hours imposed by the oil companies.

The meeting was attended by 90 branch members and the following officers were elected: Stan Hitchman, president; Wilf Clark, 1st vice-president; Dave Duncan, 2nd vice-president, and Earl Reynolds, secretary.

The suggestion was made by Greater Victoria Conservation Council president Kenneth McAllister to a meeting of the organization in Victoria Art Gallery.

He said a stumbling block to progress exists on Vancouver Island due to the large land grants given by earlier governments "to railroads and gentlemen adventurers."

"At this time, when the services rendered by these institutions are being reduced and sometimes cancelled, it is my personal view that steps should be taken to return all undeveloped land and resources to the Crown as such surpluses are clear indication

$700,000 BILL FOR ELECTION

Last year's provincial election cost the B.C. taxpayers more than $700,000.

A nine-month interim statement of provincial accounts from comptroller-general C. J. Ferber shows that up to Dec. 31, 1960, the government spent a total of $780,195 on administering the provincial elections.

That includes not only costs of the Sept. 12 general election, but the usual year-round costs of operating an elections branch of the provincial secretary's department.

The amount set aside for that during the year was $78,258.

That leaves a little over the $700,000 to pay for the actual election.

B.C. Asked to Seize Unused Land Grants

All the old land grants—such as those to the E & N Railway—should be taken back by the government if they have not been developed, a conservationist declared Monday night.

The suggestion was made by Greater Victoria Conservation Council president Kenneth McAllister to a meeting of the organization in Victoria Art Gallery.

He said a stumbling block to progress exists on Vancouver Island due to the large land grants given by earlier governments "to railroads and gentlemen adventurers."

"At this time, when the services rendered by these institutions are being reduced and sometimes cancelled, it is my personal view that steps should be taken to return all undeveloped land and resources to the Crown as such surpluses are clear indication of excess generosity in the first instance.

"Such reversion should further be automatic any time service is curtailed for whatever reason."

Reverted lands could be used by the government for developing industry, agriculture, parks and recreation areas, urban centres and endowment land for universities, Mr. McAllister said.

Mr. McDonald said a meeting between club officials and the Saanich building committee is scheduled within the next few weeks to discuss building plans.

'McKELVIE PARK' SUPPORTED BY CONSERVATION COUNCIL

Greater Victoria Conservation Council Monday endorsed an Up-Island petition to the provincial government seeking establishment of a 400-acre provincial park near Cobble Hill.

A strong delegation from Up-Island communities outlined their request to the council meeting in Victoria Art Gallery.

The park, on Cobble Hill Mountain, would be named Bruce McKelvie Memorial Park in honor of a well-known E.C. newspaperman and historian.

Kinsmen Offer 'Centre'

Health, Welfare Unit Proposed for Saanich

An offer to sponsor the construction of a joint $120,000 health and welfare building for Saanich has been made by the Kinsmen Club of Victoria, it was disclosed at a Saanich council meeting Monday.

The Saanich health department is now renting office space at 464 Gorge Road, and the welfare department is at 3681 Douglas Street.

The project would not interfere with planned amalgamation of health units in Greater Victoria and surrounding districts into a metropolitan health board.

START NEXT YEAR

Reeve George Chatterton told council Kinsmen are prepared to contribute a substantial sum towards the health and welfare centre.

Construction would start next year, he said.

Original plans called for a building to accommodate the Saanich and South Vancouver Island Health Unit, but the reeve proposed that the welfare department be included in the building plans.

He said the Kinsmen Club has agreed to this.

"There is a close liaison between the health and welfare departments," he said. "In my opinion they should both occupy the same building in the interest of efficiency and service."

But the reeve said if a joint building is acceptable to council, Saanich could not expect the Kinsmen Club to raise the total funds for its construction.

SAANICH AID

Saanich would be expected to share some of the costs, he said.

Coun. Ainslee Worthington, chairman of the health committee, said the building would be erected on the site designated as a civic centre at Swan Lake.

Council is negotiating for a total of 22 acres in the area to use for all future municipal buildings.

Welfare and health officials are satisfied with the site, Mr. Worthington said.

Rae McDonald, chairman of the Kinsmen building committee, said an initial estimate for a joint health and welfare building is $120,000.

$30,000 IN GRANTS

He said the Kinsmen Club, as well as other organizations, which for the present prefer to remain anonymous, would contribute to a building fund.

In addition, he said, Saanich would receive from federal provincial grants a total of $30,000 towards its construction.

Mr. McDonald said a meeting between club officials and the Saanich building committee is scheduled within the next few weeks to discuss building plans.

Fireworks Ban For Children Asked By MLA

A bid to stop sale of fireworks to children is being made in the legislature by one of the three women MLAs.

Mrs. Lois Hagen (C.F.—Grand Forks) wants to control use of fireworks to responsible groups or organizations.

She has filed notice she will introduce a private bill to amend the Fireworks Regulation Act.

NEED PERMIT

She wants full provincial control over sale, display and discharge of fireworks. Anyone wanting to let off fireworks would have to get a permit from the provincial fire marshal.

Present regulations merely confine the sale of fireworks to a few days before Halloween. They are enforced by municipalities.

"They just simply don't work," said Mrs. Hagen today. "Somehow the fireworks get sold a lot sooner."

"Some people may call me a killjoy for taking fireworks away from children. But we don't put guns in their hands, we don't give them toys with poisonous paint, we don't light candles on Christmas trees any more."

Mrs. Hagen said 2,000 children in the U.S. are maimed or seriously injured each year by fireworks.

She said service clubs and other responsible groups should be the ones to put on displays of fireworks for the children.

WOMAN'S LEG BROKEN IN CAR MISHAP

Mrs. Helen Sears, 32, of 292 Virago, is in "fairly good" condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today after she was in collision with a car in the middle of the Old Island Highway at Colwood Monday night.

She suffered a compound fracture of the upper left leg, bruises and head abrasions after the accident during a heavy rainfall.

Colwood RCMP identified the driver of the car as Fonne Chung, 4020 Prospect Lake Road.

They said Mrs. Sears had been in her husband's car parked nearby. When she stepped out she apparently began walking on the pavement near Colwood Corner.

TRUCKER THROWN

Truck driver William Collins, 58, of 1960 Lee, is also in fairly good condition at Jubilee Hospital after being thrown to the street at Topaz and Quadra shortly before 6 p.m. Saturday.

His van was in collision with a car driven by Randall K. Larsen, 1235 Montrose, then veered into a stop sign, at which point Collins was thrown out.

Three people—pedestrian, cyclist and motorist—are in hospital with injuries received in separate traffic accidents in Saanich last week.

They are seven-year-old Ian Gray, 2883 Parkview; Horace Goad, 5, of 442 Conway, and Peter Richards, 36, of 1951 Argyle.

ASK The TIMES

Q. I have a bet that John Hart left the office of premier of British Columbia on the same day of the same month on which he became premier. N.R.C.

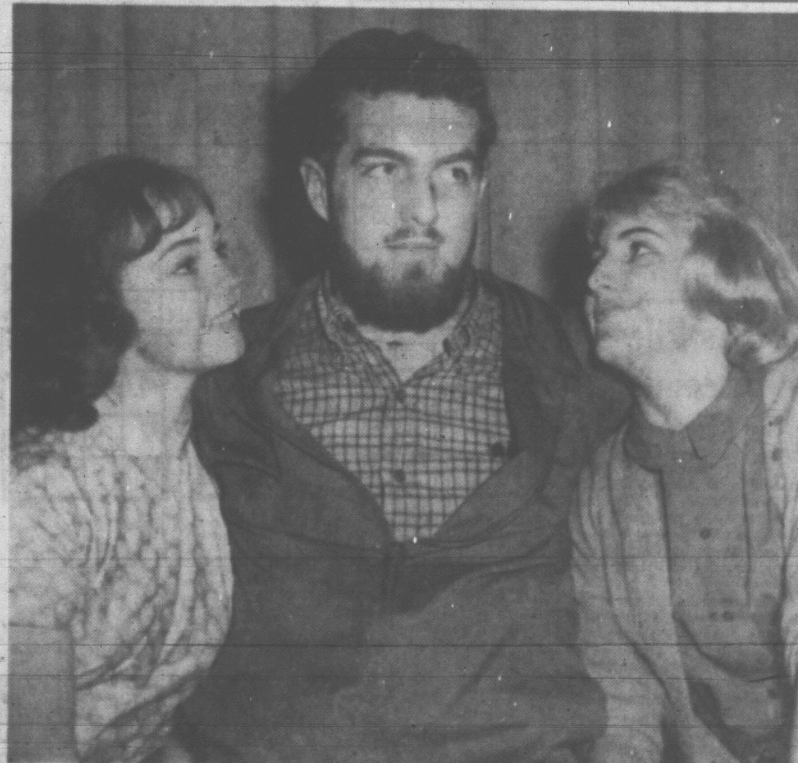

A. Not quite. He was premier from Dec. 9, 1941, to Dec. 29, 1947.

Q. When did the United Farmers of British Columbia first organize?

A. In 1917.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question about to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

QUEEN'S CHILDREN SERIES BEGINS TODAY

No children in the world are subject to as much public scrutiny, as much comment, as much acclaim or criticism as those of Queen Elizabeth. Her tactful handling of her apparent Prince Charles, Princess Anne and baby Prince Andrew, a year-old on Sunday, her discreet attempt to bring them up properly, her typical mother's love, are detailed in a series of five articles beginning today in the Times. Writer Langley Hall skillfully gives an insight into the lives of the Queen's Children. Read it on Page 5.

FINAL BULLETINS

N.S. Liberals Boycott Throne Speech

HALIFAX (CP)—Liberal Opposition members in the Nova Scotia Legislature said this afternoon they will not participate further in the debate on the throne speech. Victor Cardozo (L—Digby) said Liberals will not take part in the debate "while our people look to the government and this legislature for prompt, courageous and efficient leadership."

Smokies Beat Russian Under-23s

MOSCOW (UPI)—Canada's Trail Smoke Eaters hockey team beat the "Under 23" Russian selection 4-1 here tonight. Period scores were 2-0, 0-0, 2-1. It was the Canadian team's last game in Moscow. The Smoke Eaters arrive in Prague Wednesday and are scheduled to play five games there in eight days.

Archie Moore Must Fight 'Or Else'

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today ordered light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore to sign "forthwith" for a title defence against undefeated Doug Jones of New York, or another suitable contender, or face loss of his crown. The National Boxing Association already has a new champion in the person of Harold Johnson of Philadelphia.

UAR Recognizes Lumumba Successor

CAIRO (AP)—Cairo Radio announced today the United Arab Republic has recognized the Stanleyville rebel regime of Antoine Gizenga as the "legal and national government" of the Congo.

Triple Slayer Sentenced to Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Triple slayer Henry Adolph Busch was formally sentenced today to die in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber. Superior Judge Edwin L. Jefferson sentenced the 29-year-old Busch after rejecting defence motions for a new trial and reduction of the death penalty.

ONE BODY FOUND

Bad Weather Hampers Search

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four aircraft and a flotilla of small vessels were losing a race against rapidly deteriorating weather today in efforts to locate a missing 40-foot camp tender with seven men aboard.

The RCAF Search and Rescue Squadron said gale force winds were expected to hit the coast before noon, halting the search that was started with the discovery of the body of one of the eight men who were on the Green Valley when it left Texada Island, 40 miles north of here, Monday morning.

The men were going on a four-day holiday to Pender Harbor, on the mainland, about 45 miles north of here. The RCAF said the flotilla of ships, 15 in all, "will wait out the gale in safety."

Among vessels taking part in the search is the Esquimalt-based naval auxiliary vessel Whitethroat.

A spokesman said, "We're now sure a bad accident has happened," adding that the general search area now is centred off McRae Cove. A chain of unpredictable circumstances led to almost a 10-hour delay in the start of the search.

The Green Valley, a black-hulled tender with a green cabin, left a small logging camp operated by an affiliate of L & K Lumber about 9:30 a.m. Monday on a 15-mile trip to Pender Harbor. It carried eight men when it left in clear and good weather.

An air force spokesman said the gale winds were approaching faster than expected. Light marine vessels were expected to abandon the search by mid-day.

The Green Valley normally carries loggers to and from camps along the B.C. coast. It was not known how many of the missing were loggers or what was the strength of the Green Valley's crew.

Search and rescue said identification of those aboard was being withheld until next of kin have been notified.

The air force said additional planes would join in the search once the general search area was narrowed to a more specific spot.

CANADA GETS MORE TB REFUGEES

OTTAWA (CP)—A third group of 114 European tubercular refugees and their dependents will be brought to Canada as part of this country's contribution to World Refugee Year. Immigration Minister Fairclough announced today.

Atom Power No Mystery To Red China

LONDON (UPI)—Russia gave the first official hint today that Red China is well on the way toward mastering the secrets of nuclear energy.

A Radio Moscow broadcast beamed to North America said "Chinese scientists can now solve the most complex problems in modern science."

Moscow made this cryptic statement in conjunction with an announcement that Red China's first atomic reactor and cyclotron "are in operation."

Red Chinese scientists, the broadcast added, can now solve modern scientific problems, "including the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes."

Diplomatic sources said the Russian hint bears out recent information from behind the Iron Curtain that Peking is working hard on the atom bomb and may be nearing a solution.

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government warned today that the "rising power" of Communist China has become a potential threat to world peace and said the West must maintain adequate strength to discourage any aggression by either China or the Soviet bloc.

The warning was contained in the government's annual defence report to parliament. It was the first time that the government had placed emphasis in the report on China's military strength.

'Meaner' Means Test Charged by Strachan

The British Columbia government gives to welfare with one hand, and takes from its welfare cases with the other, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said Monday.

He disclosed, for the first time, new government regulations tightening the means test for supplementary old-age assistance.

They require the signature of a magistrate or a commissioner of oaths to certify they are correct and the applicant really does need up to $24 a month from the provincial government on top of the federal pension.

"Big brother here we come," Mr. Strachan taunted the government as he flayed its welfare policy in the budget debate in the legislature.

"Nineteen-Eighty-Four—this is it," He explained for the benefit of Premier Bennett's plaintive query "Nineteen-Eighty-Four? This isn't 1984," that this is the title of a book about the future by George Orwell, in which "Big Brother" (the state) spies on everyone and runs the ultimate in regimentation.

The new regulations, contained in a letter from government welfare director J. A. Sadler to all regional officers, mean a stiffer test and probably reduced assistance, said Mr. Strachan.

Congo Crisis Tension Mounts

LONDON (CP)—The slaying of Patrice Lumumba shocked governments around the world today and sparked new blasts at United Nations performance in The Congo from both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The Soviet Union unofficially withdrew its recognition of Dag Hammarskjöld as United Nations secretary-general and demanded that all foreign troops get out of The Congo within one month.

The government statement, reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, said Russia would have nothing to do with Hammarskjöld in future. It charged that the slaying of the ousted Congolese premier was "an international crime incompatible with the United Nations' charter."

The note also demanded the arrest and trial of Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga Province and army strongman Joseph Mobutu.

STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE

The bitter Soviet statement came as demonstrations erupted in a number of world capitals.

Some 6,000 students and factory workers smashed windows of Belgium's embassy in Moscow.

In Belgrade, hundreds of Yugoslavs burst into the Belgian embassy, broke windows and hurled furniture into the street. Crowds in the street burned curtains and a flag belonging to the embassy.

Other demonstrations were held outside Belgian legations in London, Rome and Bombay. In Cairo, about 20 demonstrators gathered outside the United States information agency shouting pro-Lumumba slogans.

Deplorable Says Green

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green today denounced as deplorable Russia's action in withdrawing recognition of Dag Hammarskjöld as secretary-general of the United Nations.

He told the Commons it could only add to the difficulties faced by the UN in The Congo.

Rocket to Venus Just a Starter

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet scientists confidently forecast the beginning of an era of interplanetary flights today as a Russian rocket streaked through space on course toward Venus.

Russian scientist Alexander Markov said there is "no doubt" that after the current rocket flight others with automatic instruments would be sent to Venus.

They will transmit back to earth information about the atmosphere of Venus, the composition of its surface, flora and fauna, if they exist on this mysterious planet, Markov said in an article in the Soviet newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda.

ROCKET ON TARGET
Russia reported Monday night that the 1,420-pound rocket, launched Sunday from an earth satellite, had covered almost 300,000 miles by Monday morning and was dead on course. They said the rocket will reach the area of Venus in the latter half of May.

All the equipment aboard the rocket is functioning as intended, Tass said. During the first playback, the temperature aboard was 68 degrees Fahrenheit.

FLYING AIR COMMAND KEPT ALOFT BY U.S.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The United States Strategic Air Command announced today it now has an airborne command post in the air at all times.

The airborne command posts are intended as stand-by units to take over should the underground control centre here or its alternates be knocked out.
